THINK TRACE OF BALLOON FOUND

Word from Fort William and Fort Arthur is Encouraging.

ABANDONED BASKET ON LAKE SUPERIOR

Nothing to Indicate the Fate of Aeronauts Hawley and Post.

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—It is now nine days since Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post in the balloon America II started in the international race from St. Louis and no news of their present whereabouts, dead or alive, has been received. Officials of the Aero club were cast in gloom today.

Lewis Spindler, the club's representative, telegraphed from Toronto: "Tuesday night a balloon was sighted going west from Lake Kaporine. The same night a balloon was sighted going north at Ouimette, near Pearl river and Lake Superior. I fear this is a derelict. These statements confirm previous reports."

From Port Arthur the following was received: "Abandoned balloon basket found near here close to shore of Lake Superior."

The last message received from the America was shouted on the afternoon of Oct. 18 by Post at Carters Siding, Mich., according to a telegram received today. One of the occupants said his name was Post and shouted: "Report America II, Oct. 18, 4:30 p. m., headed northeast."

The suggestion that the balloon carried lights is explained here in the belief that Hawley and Post had arranged a battery to which was attached an electric light.

SAW BALLOON COME DOWN.

Port Arthur, Ont., Oct. 26.—Forest rangers, in the government employ, sent word here this morning that a balloon was seen descending in a forest between this city, which is seven miles from Fort William, and Black Sturgeon lake early this morning. A relief party will be sent to find the air craft, which the rangers think may be the America II.

Mr. Guerrard today positively asserted that a balloon, a "huge one," was seen. Not only were its lights but its outline clearly visible. Dusk was coming on, he related, when he noticed two lights swinging back and forth in the strong breeze. That they were not traceable to any other cause than the presence of a balloon he was sure because the country thereabouts is sparsely populated and the outlines of the balloon were plainly visible. Knowing of the search for the missing balloon, he sought the two other train employes to verify his story. No attempt was made here to find out if passengers saw the lights.

At the rate the balloon apparently was traveling when seen by the three mail clerks near Ouimette it would have crossed before midnight the line of the National Trans-Continental railway, beyond which is relentless wilderness.

PROSPECT NOT PROMISING.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 26.—"The outlook for obtaining any information of the whereabouts of the America II grows less encouraging every hour," said Edmund H. Stratton, the representative of the Aero Club of America today. "The immensity of the great northwoods, the widely scattered settlements and particularly the absence of means of quick communication make the search difficult."

Regarding the balloon reported seen at Fort William last night, Mr. Stratton said: "If balloon it was, it must have been a derelict. The America II could not have been afloat with passengers as late as yesterday, escape of gas would have destroyed its carrying power several days ago."

The search for the missing aeronauts from this point will continue, however. Every avenue of news is being used by government officials, railroads and the lumber companies which have men along the border between Ontario and Quebec.

DOUBTED THE RUMOR.

New York, Oct. 26.—"I afraid it is another one of those unconfirmed rumors that have been drifting in ever since the America II was reported lost," said Wm. Hawley, brother of Alan R. Hawley, when he read the dispatch from Fort William today.

"I don't see how I can place any credence in the report until there is something tangible to work on. There has been so many of these reports."

The officials of the Aero Club of America had received no word from the missing balloon today, but have not given up hope that Mr. Post and Mr. Hawley either will be found or will report by telegraph that they have landed safely.

THOUGHT IT WAS A BALLOON.

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 26.—F. A. Guerrard, a mail clerk on the Canadian Pacific railway running into Fort William from the east reported on his arrival here last night that while passing Ouimette station, 43 miles east, he and two others, A. J. Coburn and H. Lee, noticed what appeared to be the light of a balloon, which was going due north at the height of about a mile. They took it to be the America II. It was visible from 7:45 until 8:30 last night.

RAILWAY YIELDS MORE THAN FARM

Vaunted Prosperity of the Tiller Largely Myth Says Expert.

FARM IS RUN AT A LOSS HE SAYS

Striking Testimony Given by Mr. Wallace in the Rate Hearing.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—That the railroads get a better return in their investment than the farmer, despite the latter's much talked of ability to buy automobiles, was the position taken at the rate hearing today when the shippers who oppose the proposed advances in freight tariffs put H. C. Wallace, of Des Moines, on the stand as their first witness. Mr. Wallace is a farmer and editor, and was elected president of the National Conservation Congress at St. Paul recently.

Must Deny Himself All Luxury.

"The statistics show," he stated, "that in 1907 the average renter of a quarter section lost $393. In 1908 he lost $290 and in 1909 he lost $305. It is only by denying himself all luxuries that the farmer has been able to make a fair living. The apparent loss shown is overcome by the farmer not hiring the labor, but getting the work done by his children. The average farm boy of 4 years is considered a full-fledged field and stock hand."

Commissioner Lane said: "We have heard much about Iowa farmers buying automobiles. Is there a large number of them and does that show that the farmer has prospered?"

Some Have Automobiles.

"Well," replied Mr. Wallace, "I do not know how many automobiles are owned by farmers, but undoubtedly there are a large number and the fact does show prosperity. The farmer has been able to buy them because he works his boys on the farm, instead of hiring labor. And the automobile is less of a luxury to the farmer than to the city man. The tiller of the soil uses it in his business to advantage."

Discussing impoverishment of the soil Mr. Wallace said that the fertility loss of a 160-acre farm is $467 a year.

HIGH OFFICE GOES TO COLORED MAN OF BOSTON

President Will Appoint W. H. Lewis Assistant Attorney General.

Washington, Oct. 26.—President Taft, it was stated today, has decided to appoint a colored man to the highest office in an executive branch of the government ever held by a member of that race. Wm. H. Lewis, at present an assistant district attorney at Boston, is to be made an assistant attorney general of the United States.

The appointment was agreed upon by the president and Attorney General Wickersham. Just what duties will be assigned to the new assistant when he takes office has not been decided.

The appointment is in line with President Taft's policy of recognizing negroes in the government service, but taking these appointments as far as possible out of the southern states, where friction has been caused in the past by negro federal office holders.

EXPECT TO ARREST THE DYNAMITERS AT ACAPULCO

Los Angeles Dastards Are Believed Aboard a Pacific Mail Steamer.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—A Los Angeles dispatch to a local paper says that three Times dynamite suspects will be arrested today when the Pacific Mail liner San Juan reaches the port of Acapulco, on the Mexican coast.

According to the dispatch which is asserted to be based on information received from Chief of Police Galloway, of Los Angeles yesterday from the state department at Washington the baggage of the three suspected passengers has been seized by the captain of the San Juan upon instructions from Secretary Knox.

Have Been Watched.

The men it is understood have been under close surveillance for four days and will be arrested when the boat is scheduled to land by Mexican officials and the American consular at Apaculpo. The suspects, the dispatch continues, are believed to be the men who purchased the five hundred pounds of explosive from the Giant Powder company, at Giant, Cal., on Sept. 17.

"One of the three," the dispatch says, "has a glass eye, according to advices and answers the general description of the man who is known to the police as "Smithy."

Believed to Be Bryce and Perry.

The other two passengers are believed to be J. B. Bryce and F. A. Perry.

"These three men, according to advices, boarded the steamer San Juan at San Francisco on Oct. 15. At that time Smithy did not appear when the tickets were purchased for the isthmus.

"The information, which was received here from the state department through Gov. Gillett, has caused Attorney Earl Rogers and the other investigators temporarily to suspend the search."

WILL BAR SUFFRAGE TEST.

Amendment in Washington Has Defect Which is Fatal.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 26.—An alleged defect in its wording, it is declared, which will invalidate the woman's suffrage amendment to the state constitution to be voted upon at the coming election has been discovered in the resolution adopted by the last legislature, submitting the question to the voters.

The proposition is drawn to amend article 1, section 6. This section was previously amended by amendment No. 2 and the anti-suffragists maintain that to be effective the new amendment must refer to amendment 2 and not article 1, section 6, which no longer exists.

BIG SUIT FILED.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 26.—A suit involving one million dollars was filed in the federal court here today by counsellors for the city of St. Louis to condemn property in East St. Louis, Ill., for the purpose of erecting a free bridge across the Mississippi river.

A similar suit has been filed at St. Louis to condemn property on the Missouri side of the river. The case will be heard at the November term.

TOOTH INSURANCE IS PLANNED.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 26.—A tooth insurance company has just been organized here by Dr. Norman Haas, a local dentist. He proposes to insure teeth for $1.50 per year, and if a policy-holder loses a tooth in any way Dr. Haas will replace it with a new one. He plans to operate in every state in the Union and possibly in Canada and Mexico.

KING VISITS SCENE OF CATASTROPHE AT NAPLES

Victor Immanuel Comes Suddenly to Relief of His People.

Naples, Oct. 26.—King Victor Emanuel arrived here unannounced today. His coming was wholly unexpected, however. He was accompanied by his first aide, General Brusatti; Admiral Garelli and Count Mattiolo-Pasqualini, minister of the royal household.

The authorities were able to make a more definite estimate of the fatalities caused by the cyclone, tidal wave and eruptions of Mt. Vesuvius and Mount Epomeo.

Known dead are: Cetrara, 80; Vecete, 31; Majori, 20; Casamicciola island of Ischia, 12; Amalfi, 10; Resina, 7; Madonna Grazie, 10; Minori, 4; Lacco Amena, 3; Montecorvino, Torre del Greco, 1. Total, 189.

Thousands are homeless and the most serious problem now is to provide these with shelter, food and water. The movement of supplies is difficult because in many places the roads have been washed out. Most of the towns requiring aid can be approached from the sea. Admiral Leopardi, minister of marine, had a narrow escape from death on the island of Ischia today. In attempting to get a close view of the effect of the eruption from Mount Epomeo, he approached too close to the bed of the volcanic stream and sank to his waist in mud. His plight was discovered by soldiers, who rescued him.

SITUATION VERY GRAVE.

Rome, Oct. 26.—Minister of Public Works Sacchi, who is visiting the scene of Monday's cyclone in the vicinity of the bay of Naples and the Gulf of Salerno today telegraphed Premier Luzzatti describing the gravity of the disaster and setting forth the immediate needs of the sufferers. The minimum needs of the sufferers. The village of Cetara was destroyed and that many persons were killed. Thirty-four bodies remain unburied today. He estimates the fatalities at 200.

Lack of fresh water is causing much suffering and ships with water supplies have been sent along the coast to relieve the immediate needs. The scarcity of the water is due to the rupture of the aqueducts and the flooding of the wells with mud.

SENATOR ELKINS BETTER.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Letters received from the bedside of Senator Elkins at his home in West Virginia, reported decided improvement in the senator's condition. In a letter dated yesterday his private secretary states that his condition is better than it has been at any time for a month.

FRENCH BIRD-MAN IS KILLED AS HE FINISHES

M. Blanchard's Monoplane Falls at End of Long Flight.

Paris, Oct. 26.—M. Blanchard, the aviator, fell from a height of 100 feet and was instantly killed today. The accident occurred over the field at Issy-les-Molineaux, where Blanchard was attempting to descend after a successful flight from Bourgeois.

Fernand Blanchard, M. Bregi and M. Bielovucci, who had participated in the aviation meeting at Bourgeois, decided to return to Paris in the air. Bregi arrived first, having covered the distance from Bourgeois to Paris in 4 hours and 10 minutes. Blanchard was a close second and was over the aviation field at Issy-les-Molineaux when his monoplane fell. Blanchard was found dying in the wreckage and survived but a few moments. M. Bielovucci arrived safely.

SENDS CHRISTMAS WARNING.

Postal Department Instructs Concerning Charity Stamps.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The first official note of the approach of Christmas appeared today when the postoffice department issued a warning to all postmasters that Portugal, Guatemala and Uruguay refuse to admit to their mails articles bearing nonpostage "Christmas" stamps or other adhesive charity stamps or label. Portugal's objection, however, is limited to such stamps as resemble regular postage stamps. Other countries, such as Great Britain, Germany, British East Africa and a host of British dependencies, will admit articles bearing such stamps when the stamps are affixed to the reverse side and not to the address side.

The postoffice authorities announce that articles liable to be refused admittance to the countries mentioned will not be forwarded from the United States, but will be returned to the persons mailing them. Incidentally, the department has issued the usual caution that to avoid delay in handling articles bearing Christmas stamps to be transmitted in the international mails the covers of such articles should bear the full name and address of the senders.

ONE NAVAL STATION ENOUGH.

Secretary Meyer Says South Does Not Need More.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 26.—That there is need but for one naval station in the south was the opinion expressed by Secretary of the Navy Meyer before his departure from New Orleans this morning for Pensacola, Fla.

"There are unquestionably too many navy yards and stations in the south," said Secretary Meyer.

"I do not think there is need for more than one. Where that is to be is a matter yet to be decided. It is not a question of the prominence of any city or the claims of any city. It is the efficiency of the navy which is to be considered."

SHOWS 65 MILES HOUR IN TRIAL

Aviation Feats at Belmont Park Prevented Today by High Wind.

Belmont Park, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Brisk winds blowing this morning presaged difficulties for the aviators in the beginning of the important tests scheduled for this afternoon, the fifth day of the international aviation meet, and threatened to keep the machines of two aviators out of the day's competitions altogether. The pair of airmen in difficulties were A. J. Drexel and J. C. McCurdy, who got lost in the gathering darkness outside the course while competing in the cross-country flight late yesterday afternoon and were forced to land in distant fields. Drexel at Rockville Center and McCurdy at Lynn Brook, each approximately eight miles from the aviation course. The straying experts expected to take the air and fly their machines back to the park when daylight broke, but up to the time when preparations for the day's flights had got under way nothing had been heard from either. The chances seemed to be they would not be able to get back today as the wind was blowing at twenty miles an hour and increasing.

Given any sort of favorable aerial conditions, today was expected to settle the elimination trials for the James Gordon Bennett cup race, the Michlin and Scientific American trophies and to witness competitions for the grand altitude prize as well as more cross-country flights.

Wind Blows a Gale.

The wind at 10:30 a. m. was blowing at thirty miles with apparently little chance of moderating. Indications pointed to no flights.

A snapping norther that blew from thirty to thirty-five miles an hour took all the promise out of blue skies and bright sunshine. Nobody cared to venture out for practice. The officials in the judges' stand believed that when the sun began to sink the wind would abate and that there would be at least an hour and a half of good air.

"I think the Gordon Bennett cup will stay in this country," said Orville Wright today, who is preparing to enter his "Baby" Wright racer in the elimination trials carded to begin today. "I estimate that I made 65 miles yesterday."

LeBlanc's 100-horse power Bleriot is credited with 76 miles an hour in a straight-away dash, but from the trial flights which Orville Wright made yesterday it appeared that with his double planes he was able to bank the turns much sharper than the Bleriot or the Antoinette monoplanes.

"As for the outer or international course of five kilometers," continued Mr. Wright, "I consider it perfectly safe."

Two Entrants for Big Prize.

For the special prize of $10,000 offered by Thomas Fortune Ryan for a flight tomorrow from the field to the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor and return Count De Lesseps and John B. Moissant entered today without reservation.

J. Armstrong Drexel and Aubrun thought they should enter, but were not sure.

Latham and the Wrights declined even to consider entering.

"None of our men are allowed to fly over cities," said Orville Wright. "We consider it too dangerous in the present stage of the science."

Courtland Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America and chairman of the contest committee which has the race in charge, said shortly before 1:30, when the day's program was scheduled to begin, that he had forbidden the American team to hazard their machines today, that there would be no elimination heats until tomorrow.

WOULD HELP INSURGENTS.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 26.—Theodore Roosevelt's influence was thrown into the political campaign in Michigan today through the publication by the republican state committee of a telegram from him to former Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., of Massachusetts, who made several addresses in Michigan last week.

CINCINNATI CRIME BAFFLES POLICE

No Clue to Murderer of Mrs. Mary Hackney is Found.

MURDER WAS ONLY CRIME COMMITTED

Three Suspects, Including Husband, Held for Examination.

Cincinnati, Oct. 26.—With three suspects under arrest, the police today continued their investigation in the brutal murder of Mrs. Mark Hackney, whose mutilated body was found in her home in Canal Ridge, Cumminsville, last night. The men being held by the police are Harley Hackney, husband of the murdered woman; Charles Eckert, a young man who boarded with the Hackney family and Herman Schwering, a negro driver of a milk wagon.

Hackney and Eckert found the body of the woman on their return from work in a lumber mill, and adhere to their first story that they did not commit the crime, and can throw no light on the mysery. Schwering also declares he had nothing to do with the murder.

Fifth Baffling Murder.

The police are greatly stirred up over the crime as this is the fifth murder of young women in that section of the city in the last six years. They are doing all in their power to arrest and fasten the crime on the murderer. None of the other crimes has ever been solved. Like the other victims, the body of Mrs. Hackney was frightfully mutilated. The skull was fractured in several places by blows apparently from an ax, her throat cut from ear to ear, and there were cuts and gashes all about her face and head.

No Other Crime Than Murder.

The coroner's post-mortem proved that no crime other than murder had been committed. A search of the premises showed that no robbery had taken place and in the light of these facts the police thus far have been unable to establish even so much as a motive for the crime.

A coincidence of the case is that the killing occurred just across the street from where the body of the Kirk murder was found in 1884. That crime led to the memorable "Cincinnati riot" in which several persons were killed and the court house was burned.

OPPOSE BRIGHT HEADLIGHTS.

Railroad Men Testify in Hearing Against Order of Commission.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—About twenty-five witnesses testified yesterday for the complainants in the headlight case, being heard before Special Master in Chancery Noble C. Butler, in which the Baltimore & Ohio Railway company is attempting to obtain an injunction against the railroad commission of Indiana. The case hinges on the recent order, which provides all locomotives in the state shall be equipped with electric headlights of not less than 1,600 candle power. The hearing continued this morning at 9:30 o'clock. John R. Alexander, Altoona, Pa., was on the stand most of yesterday afternoon, testifying to results obtained in tests of headlights at Athon, Ind. All of the testimony tended to show that bright headlights are confusing to engineers in reading signals and in discovering obstructios on the tracks.

WOMEN'S HATS PUZZLE PASTORS

Fear to Request Their Removal and Men Quit Attending Church.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 26.—The perplexing problem of keeping the men in attendance upon the church services and to permit the women members to wear the monster hats they now affect is up to the Kokomo ministers, to whom some of the men have been complaining. Certain men have ceased going to church and have frankly given the reasons. The ministers hesitate to request the women to remove their hats for fear of offense.

CONTRACT IN SHAPE TO PRESENT TO COUNCIL

Vote Indicates That Board of Works Will Be Sustained—Routine.

Since the council has indicated that it will sustain the board of public works in its proposed agreement with the Pennsylvania company relative to the vacation of streets and grants sought in exchange for a right of way to extend Webster street under its tracks the contract can now be whipped into shape for presentation and it will probably be ratified when it comes to a vote.

This contract consumed nearly an hour in debate at the council meeting of last night. Member Felger presented a resolution to the effect that sixty feet is in his opinion sufficient width for the tunnel to be built at Webster street, and Members Braun, Wagner, Van Sweringen and Welch argued for seventy feet.

At the close of a debate in which every member of the council, with the exception of Mr. Pfleger, had something to say, the majority resolution was lost by the following vote: No—Bauer, Dittoe, Felger, Haller, Hamilton, Pfleger, Pinninger and Sarver—8. Aye—Braun, Kinder, Rogge, Schroeder, Van Sweringen, Wagner and Welch—7. When the minority vote was put to a test Chairman Rogge switched and it received nine votes to six against it.

There was another debate during the session and this came up when the police salary ordinance was reported upon and resulted in raising the salaries of the detective sergeants from $960 to $1,020 a year. The chief is to receive $1,500 a year, an increase from $1,325; the captain will get $1,260, which is $5 more a month than he has been receiving; the lieutenant remains at $1,020, because he was overlooked, and other members of the force will get $780 for the first year of service, $840 for the second and $900 after that. The city electrician will get $540 and the humane officer $660. Mr. Bauer started the debate on the detective sergeants and his amendment to the committee report carried. The increase will become effective the first of next year.

After a stiff fight the resolution endorsing the board of public works for the action taken in placing the poles on Spy Run avenue won out. Mr. Pinninger introduced the measure and the opposition to its passage was led by Mr. Bauer, who insisted that the people of the district were not getting what they want. The vote on the adoption of the resolution carried. Braun, Dittoe, Felger, Haller, Hamilton, Kinder, Pinninger, Rogge, Wagner and Welch voting for the resolution and Bauer, Pfleger, Sarver, Schroeder and Van Sweringen voting against it.

Mayor Grice had refused to sign the resolution, giving as his reason that the board of public works had done the best that could be done under the circumstances and indicating that he thought the members were right. The mayor also stated that he would not sign the resolution for curb sidewalks on Woodland avenue, saying that there is no ordinance upon the subject and that the board is simply following out a custom established in the Berghoff administration. He said the board is in a better position to judge this question than he or the council and he advocated letting the members take care of it.

Ordinances were passed appropriating $1,650 to the public parks account, $500 to advertising and printing account, $300 to the public grounds account, $400 to the sewer repair account, $422.50 to the salaries account, $1,000 for the repair of Lakeside dike and $3,000 for the street cleaning account.

Ordinances were introduced and referred appropriating $1,627.10 to pay the salaries of the city attorney, the members of the board of works and the clerk to the building inspector; making the pay of the chief sanitary officer $960 per year and each of the officers under him $900, and authorizing the mayor to sell the patrol team and the year's accumulation of junk at the various city properties.

A new ordinance was introduced extending the fire limits and ordinances were passed regulating the hauling of garbage through the streets and defining the rules of the road. Five thousand copies of the latter will be ordered for distribution. Under a suspension of rules the council appropriated $500 to increase the fund for the purchase of an auto patrol. The reports of the city controller showing the operations of the light plant and the condition of the general funds of the city was introduced and referred to the finance committee.

The committee on contracts and franchises reported against the construction of the Bowser monorail across Thomas street.

We have never known of any person going away from Fort Wayne to buy Furniture or Carpets who could not have saved money by buying at Foster's at home.

DIRIGIBLE BALLOON FROM FRANCE TO ENGLAND

Military Airship Makes a Trip from Moisson to Aldershot.

Aldershot, England, Oct. 26.—The airship "Morning Post" arrived here safely today after a flight across the English channel from Moisson, France.

The military dirigible arrived here at 3:30 o'clock, having accomplished the trip from Moisson in five hours and fifteen minutes. The airship circled above the military camp for some time before making a landing.

The voyage of the dirigible ended in partial disaster. While it was being housed it caught in a girder and a great gash was ripped in the envelope. The ship collapsed with a crash but no one was hurt.

The framework was not seriously damaged.

START FROM FRANCE.

Nantes, France, Oct. 26.—The military dirigible balloon Morning Post left Moisson at 10:15 o'clock this morning for Aldershot, England. At 12:03 it passed over the Semaphore at St. Valery-en-Caux and disappeared above the English channel, convoyed by an English destroyer.

The Morning Post was constructed in France and presented to the British army by the London Morning Post.

DID NOT KNOW ABOUT DEAL.

President Fogel Was Not Aware That Trade Was on.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—President Fogel this afternoon gave to the Associated Press a statement in which he says:

"I was not aware that Managers Dooin and Griffith were working on a deal, much less that they arranged one, until the newspapers published it yesterday. When I heard about this proposed deal, I instructed Manager Dooin not to go any further with it and also to telegraph Mr. Herrmann that as I had not been consulted I would not sanction the deal."

President Fogel said he did not take seriously Dooin's threat to resign.

"When Dooin understands the situation he will think differently," said Mr. Fogel.

TWO DAYS GIVEN TO SIGN FOR THE CHANGE

Spy Run Poles Will Be Set Inside Walk If Owners Agree.

After inspecting the conditions on Spy Run avenue the members of the board of public works today decided to give two days in which the property owners can sign easements permitting the poles on the east side to be set inside the sidewalk that is in course of construction.

Work has been held up in the meantime and if the property owners act promptly the change will be made. If they do not take advantage of the delay the sidewalk will be put down and the poles placed the same as they have been on the west side.

City Water Is Pure.

Another report from the state chemist received by the city board of health indicates that the water supply is free from colon baccilli and there have been no complaints of any kind for several weeks. As soon as some repairs have been made at Reservoir park the reservoir will be drained and cleaned and this will dispose of the foreign matter that is said to have entered the mains some time ago.

Scarlet fever in the extreme eastern portion of the city has been traced to a boy who contracted the disease in Columbia City and brought it here.

Files His Report.

City Controller W. S. Cutshall has filed with the council his financial report for the quarter ending September 30, 1910, showing a balance on hand in the special fund of $197,849.63, and a balance in the general funds of $60,154.44. Total funds on hand amount to $258,004.07 with floating warrants of $13,903.77, giving a cash balance of $271,907.84.

NATION OF SOCIETY GAMBLERS THIS AMERICA IS

Mrs. A. B. Sims Flays Church People Who Play Cards for Money.

Seattle, Oct. 26.—"America is fast becoming a nation of society gamblers," said Mrs. A. B. Sims, one of the band of workers of the American Purity federation, who spoke in Seattle in Plymouth church, the largest and wealthiest Congregational church in this city.

As she denounced card playing and flayed card players, several of the congregation left the house.

"Eighty-five per cent of the fashionable society gamblers are church people; that is, their names appear on some church roll. Card playing among church members is the beginning of the undermining of their Christian faith. Other sins follow, and so by it we are betrayed.

"Fashionable card playing leads to extravagant living, and the downfall of virtue. We are a nation of society gamblers, and, worst of all, a nation of women gamblers.

"The effect on the nerves of our women is worse than the effect on their pockets. The frenzy of card playing acts on them like whisky, morphine and cocaine."

DOCTORS ENDORSE IT.

The Owen bill, now pending before congress, which provides for a national department of public health, was endorsed in resolutions passed at a meeting of the Fort Wayne Medical society Tuesday night. Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk, county health officer, read a paper at the meeting on cleanliness as the best preventive of disease.

today of an Associated Press dispatch reporting the landing of the balloon Aemrica II near Fort William, Ont., caused the Aero club officials to order Lewis Spindler, who is at Toronto, to move his headquarters farther west of the Canadian Pacific. It had been intended to work from Chapleau, Ont.

Fort William is 383 miles west of Chapleau. Spindler reported to the local club that he had traced all other reports of the missing balloon and found none had aught to do with the America II.

Mrs. Charles Hockemeyer, residing in Adams township, four miles east of the city, was brought to St. Joseph's hospital in this city today, suffering from a deeply-scalded left shoulder and arm which she sustained in an accident at her home a few days ago.

While engaged in her household duties, Mrs. Hockemeyer stumbled as she reached for a large vessel of hot water upon the stove and it was overturned upon her, the scalding fluid enveloping almost the entire left arm and shoulder.

COMPROMISE IS BIG DISAPPOINTMENT TO CROWD

Little Testimony Heard in Squires Divorce—The Court News.

A compromise in the divorce suit brought by Margaret S. Squires and in which her husband, Dr. James W. Squires, filed a sensational cross complaint, was a disappointment to a room full of women who had gathered in the superior court to get the salacious details. There were a number of girls in their teens who were present and evidently highly interested in as much of the story as was made public.

It had been agreed that as soon as Mrs. Squires finished her testimony this afternoon the husband would withdraw his cross complaint and that she would be given a divorce. The question of alimony was settled outside of the court. The cross complaint made serious allegations against Dr. C. H. English and its withdrawal is a practical exoneration of Dr. English.

Grand Jury in Session.

The grand jury was empanneled in the circuit court today and after some general instructions from Judge Edward O'Rourke the members retired for a consultation, but no witnesses were called during the day. In his instructions the judge did not touch particularly on any branch of crime, but said the jurors had some pretty important matters to consider.

There is nothing in sight now except the cases that have already been made public, principal among which are the Mose Richer, Karbach and Rose Tresselt matters. Thomas Wilkerson was named as foreman and the other jurors are William Fleming, Clem Evard, John E. Griffin, Henry Minnich and John Gimbert. Daniel Miller and Samuel C. Mills were excused.

Convicted of Robbery.

John Smith and Patrick Burke were convicted in the circuit court today of the charge of highway robbery and sentenced to from five to fourteen years in prison. They robbed Albert Bixler on Clinton street several weeks ago and were found with his knife in their possession.

The officers think that Smith is an assumed name and that the fellow who bore it in the matter is an experienced and dangerous criminal.

He made extensive notes of the testimony and wanted to address the jury, but was persuaded not to. Burke has been arrested several times for drunkenness and has been hanging about town for about a year. The jury retired last night and returned a sealed verdict today.

Company Files Bond.

The Fort Wayne and Toledo Electric Railway company, with a line projected from Fort Wayne to Bryan, O., filed the bond of $3,000 this afternoon in acceptance of its franchise from the county. Court Notes.

A petition has been filed on behalf of the heirs of William O. Seibert, who died at Sheldon, asking that the widow be forced to account for certificates of deposit that she is charged with having in her possession. The suit was filed by W. C. Ryan.

Charles E. Rohn seeks to recover $2,500 damages from Braun & Keller, of the Fort Wayne Stone works, alleging that his foot was crushed by the carelessness of fellow employes while he was assisting in moving big stone. The accident occurred Sept. 10 of this year and Harper & Eggeman filed the suit.

In the circuit court Walter E. Peterson was granted a divorce from Catherine Peterson. She is accused of having abandoned him on account of religious differences.

Maud Wheatine has sued Burdette Wheatine, charging him with failure to provide. She asks the custody of their two children and says he has refused to provide for them and they have been cared for by her and their grandparents. She says he is capable of making a living but prefers to work for a local detective agency.

The divorce suit of Etta Payne against William R. Payne has been dismissed in the superior court.

EICHEL BOYS FINED AND GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Made Brutal Attack Upon Dr. Geary—The City Court Docket.

Andrew and Henry "Heinie" Eichel were fined $10 and costs and given ten days in jail in the city court today for a brutal assault upon Dr. J. K. Geary Monday night and Judge Mungovan gave them a pretty stiff lecture in addition. They appealed the cases to the circuit court and furnished bond in the sum of $100 each.

The lads belong to a gang who have been "rushing the can" in the east end and annoying the citizens generally and they entered the doctor's barn and knocked him down without provocation. His lip was badly cut and he was rendered unconscious by a blow struck by Henry Eichel and Andrew Eichel was in the act of striking him with a club while he was down when Mrs. Geary scared him by a threat to call the police. When they were arrested they gave the names of Ed Wilson and Harry Brown.

The Other Cases.

Martin Hayes, who stole a sack of money from one of the wagons of the Fort Wayne Dairy company, was held to the juvenile court.

John McDonald, a plain drunk, was held until tomorrow. A fellow who came here from West Unity to purchase some supplies and who complained that he had been robbed of $17, was let go with a warning. It developed that he had lost no money.

Ed Murphy, who was taken to a hospital after his arrest for drunkenness was fined $1 and costs and John Lynch, charged with loitering was ordered out of the city.

DOOIN SAYS HE'LL QUIT.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—"If the deal I made with Cincinnati does not go through then I am done with the Philadelphia club," said Charles S. Dooin, manager of the local National league team. "The matter is now entirely up to President Fogel," he added.

Dooin stated that President Fogel knew of the negotiations as long as three months ago and that he has four witnesses to prove it.

SKIN GRAFTING A SUCCESS.

The skin grafting operation performed a week ago by Drs. C. B. Stemen and Noah Zehr, on a Pennsylvania brakeman named France, who had the right part of his right heel cut off by getting it caught between car bumpers, has proven successful beyond expectation, and France will owe considerable gratitude to the four friends who furnished skin from their own bodies for the operation.

Dr. Jameson recently made a speech in Durban in which he related the true story of the motive of the famous raid, from his own point of view as its leader. Its object, he said, was to make Lucas Meyer, a Dutchman, president of the Transvaal republic. He acknowledged freely that the raid was a blunder, and that it was deserving of punishment. But he asserted that it was a step toward South African federation, which was the aim of Cecil Rhodes' life. The audience was undemonstrative throughout Dr. Jameson's speech.

RULING ON SCHOOL LICENSES.

Action of State Superintendent Expected to Simplify Question.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—Robert J. Aley, state superintendent of public instruction, has made a ruling concerning the issuance of sixty-month licenses for school teachers, which is expected to simplify the license question considerably. Under a former ruling an applicant for a sixty-month license was required to take two examinations, the first in the common school branches and the second in designated high school branches. Unless he successfully passed both examinations, no license was issued or either examination, no matter how good a grade was made on the examination in the common school branches.

Under the new rule, the applicant will be compelled to have a thirty-six month common school license before he may take the examination in the high school subjects to entitle him to a sixty-month license, and any person holding such license may be examined for a sixty-month license at any time during the license year in which the thirty-six-month license was granted. In all applications for sixty-month licenses, the examinations in the common school and high school subjects must be taken in the same examination year.

HUNTINGTON AFTER A NEW FACTORY

Business Men Will Take $40,000 Stock in Steel Plant to Locate There.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 26.—Huntington business men held a mass meeting in the assembly room here last evening for the purpose of forwarding the movement for the location in this city of the Orton-Steinbrenner steel plant, which has offered to come here provided Huntington takes $40,000 worth of stock in the company. The meeting favored the proposition and twenty men were appointed as solicitors to make the canvass of the city to secure this amount of stock. C. B. Williams started the subscription by taking $500 stock. Other amounts have also been secured. The valuation of the plant is placed at $80,000. It was stated that the subscriptions would be so made that danger of losing on the investment made would be impossible on the part of those subscribing stock.

GIRL RAN AWAY FROM HER HOME

Intercepted by the Police at Marion and Returned to Parents at Kokomo.

Marion, Ind., Oct. 26.—Sadie Carney, a pretty girl of 14 and a self-confessed runaway from her home in Kokomo, occupied a chair in the police station yesterday awaiting the coming of her father, who was in town in search of her, she having disappeared from her home last Sunday. She had been taken in charge by the police at the request of her parents, who had sent a notice to that effect to the officers.

Two Marion men, Frank Baldwin, a barber, and a man named Budd, are under arrest charged with having abducted the girl from her home, but the story of Miss Carney exonerates them and they will no doubt be discharged and not held responsible for her disappearance from home. The girl's story is that she left home because of the cruel treatment of her parents, and that she came to Marion to seek employment.

The father of the girl is John R. Carney, a machinist at Kokomo. He came to Marion Monday night to assist in the search, and he passed his daughter on Washington street about 6 o'clock. He did not see her as she avoided him because she did not want to go back home, where life was unpleasant. She said that at Kokomo not only was her home life without any happiness, but at the department store there, where she worked, she was compelled to stand on her feet all day and wrap bundles.

The father was allowed to return home with his daughter. The officers believed it was for the best and the girl at last consented: It is not thought that Baldwin or Budd had anything to do with her leaving home. She had known Baldwin in Kokomo and he was simply kind to her, seeking to aid her here in her search for employment.

MAY LOSE ITS FACTORY.

Knitting Mills Branch May Move from Roanoke.

Huntington, Ind., October 26.—Roanoke may lose the branch of the Fort Wayne Knitting mills, which has been located there for some time. The factory was located there because they could secure electrical power from the interurban line at small cost.

At the time the superintendent of the factory had been considering Columbia City as a suitable place for establishing it but decided upon the smaller town because they could secure electrical power there in the day time. Now Columbia City has secured a day current and the management of the factory are thinking seriously of locating there. Superintendent A. L. Knox, of Roanoke, spent Saturday in Columbia City talking the matter over with citizens of the town but his decision has not been made public.

Roanoke citizens, however, are alive to the necessity of meeting the situation and it is possible that they will make overtures to keep their industry at home. Many girls and several men are given employment at the mills and the removal of the plant would mean much to them.

FORT WAYNE YOUNG FOLKS

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 26.—Tuesday morning at seven o'clock at the St. Paul Catholic church occurred the wedding of Miss Magdalene Feist to Mr. John Rampfer, Rev. Father John Kohl officiating. The church was filled with friends of the contracting parties and at the appointed hour the bridal party marched down the isle to the altar, the bride being accompanied by Miss Celia Feist, of Fort Wayne, who acted as bridesmaid, she being a cousin of the bride, and the groom was accompanied by Carl Meyers, of Fort Wayne, a cousin who acted as best man. The newly married couple left on a wedding trip and on their return will take a residence, already furnished, on Line street. The groom is engaged with his brothers in the implement and buggy business.

AMONG HIS CHILDREN

Estate of Jacob Boszor, of Noble County, Is Divided.

Albion, Ind., Oct. 26.—The last will and testament, with codicil attached, of the late Jacob Boszor, Noble county's only centenarian, who died October 14, has been filed for probate in the Noble circuit court by Attorney Fred L. Bodenhafer, representing the executor, John Waits.

While no invoice has been made public as to the value of the property left by Mr. Boszor, it is surmised that the estate is valued at more than $10,000, which is to be divided equally among the six children of the deceased. The estate includes an eighty-acre farm in Wayne township and personal property. The Allen township farm property is said to have been divided and deeded by Mr. Boszor before his death.

CATARRH

A SPECIFIC BLOOD IMPURITY

Catarrh is a deep-seated blood disease, one which no amount of local treatment will ever permanently cure. The beneficial effects of washes, sprays, inhalations, etc., are only temporary, and when left off the old condition returns, because the blood is infected with catarrhal matter and impurities. This impure condition of the circulation irritates and inflames the delicate mucous membranes and tissues and produces the well known symptoms of ringing noises in the head and ears, mucus in the throat, headaches, watery eyes, partial deafness, sore throat, general impairment of health, etc. This condition will remain, growing worse as long as the catarrhal matter is allowed to remain in the blood. Being a specific blood impurity, there is only one way to cure Catarrh, and that is to purify the blood. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It attacks the disease at its head—in the circulation—and by thoroughly renovating the blood and cleansing it of all impure matter, makes a permanent and lasting cure of the disease. For forty years S. S. S. has been recognized as the best blood purifier, and the thousands of cases of Catarrh it has cured is proof that it is the very medicine needed by those who suffer with this trouble. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

MARKET FOR ARTIFICIAL LEGS.

If American manufacturers will give the unfortunate cripples of Mexico an opportunity to buy artificial legs by the foot, or on the instalment plan, there is a great field in the Mexican republic for the artificial limb industry. Consul William W. Canada, of Vera Cruz, Mexico, in a report to this government, says:

"The use of artificial limbs, at least in this consular jurisdiction, has always been restricted to the few unfortunate ones able to pay for the costly substitute, for in nearly every instance it is the unskilled operative who proves to be the victim, one whose daily or weekly stipend is not large enough to warrant the purchase. Steam and electric roads, since their introduction in this country, are in a great measure responsible for the many crippled persons seen here; yet even among people that could afford the cost of an artificial limb, there are proportionately very few who make use of one.

"A well planned, energetic and persistent campaign for the general introduction into this country of artificial limbs, and at a figure or on terms of payment within the reach of all, ought to satisfactorily reward the efforts of the manufacturer. Goods of this kind are only procurable from some foreign country—France, Germany, England or the United States.

"The principal factor to be borne in mind, however, is always the cost to the purchaser. While the well-to-do would not hesitate in paying from $100 upward for an artificial leg, there are those not so fortunate who would gladly avail themselves of the opportunity of providing themselves with artificial limbs could they be paid for in installments."—Washington Star.

FOR WINTER THIN OIL IN MOTOR

As soon as cold weather sets in, it is well to change the weight of lubricating oil used for the engine cylinders and crank shaft and employ a lighter grade. Oil, when chilled, becomes much thicker than under normal conditions, and with the old style of cup lubrication, it was almost impossible to get the oil to flow on a cold morning without previous heating. With the mechanical and force-feed systems, however, efficient lubrication can be obtained in almost any weather, but it is better that the oil should be in a fluid state as soon as the motor is started, without waiting for it to "warm up;" for this reason thin oil is advisable for winter use.—Outing.

CLINE AND THE CANAL.

We had supposed, certainly we had hoped, that the lake-to-lake deep deep waterway project was a civic enterprise, not a political adventure. We have been mistaken, as now we are convinced by the insistence of the republican managers, orators and organs in this region. Since this is true the people who are interested in the Michigan and Erie canal enterprise are entitled to the

If politics in c... cut a figure in th... waterway then the ... Wayne, of Allen ... Twelfth district—... is interested—set ... return Hon. Cyrus ... Senator Beveridge says he wants somebody in the house upon whom he can rely to help him. Cline will aid him if there be left in the senate any Beveridge to aid. The people hereabouts need have no misgivings as to Senator Beveridge. He has pledged himself to our canal project. In his address here to the waterways convention a year ago he was conservative, not to say non-committal in his opinion of the merits of the project. He has had greater light and his enthusiasm has kindled to quite a flame. If Mr. Beveridge is again chosen to the senate we will have in that body a steadfast and aggressive Michigan and Erie deep waterway promoter. In the democratic house the democratic members from the Twelfth district will remain the loyal and energetic friend of our enterprise that already he has proved himself to be, with the added influence he will wield as one of the majority and a representative of experience.

Let this be borne in mind. It is the logic of the canal situation.

The story that while in Indianapolis Colonel Roosevelt denounced United States Judge Albert B. Anderson, of the Indiana federal district, as a "crook and a jackass" ought to be categorically denied by Colonel Roosevelt. The story has been circulated with a breadth and circumstantiality that can hardly be dismissed by the expresident's reference to his well-known practice not to affirm or deny statements unauthorized by himself. Judge Anderson is much esteemed in Indiana and out of it. He is considered an able jurist and an upright judge. To make such a man the object of denunciation as a "crook" becomes serious. Judge Anderson is not a "crook" and he is not a "jackass," though in the latter denomination there is nothing that can reflect. He in the view of any man. That is purely a matter of opinion or of feeling or of occasion. But to term a man a crook is to touch upon a matter of fact and that fact the issue of a man's honesty. It may be perfectly proper for Colonel Roosevelt to consider Judge Anderson a jackass and if he feels like it to say so; but to impugn him as a crook is to challenge the whole character of the man. Colonel Roosevelt should say whether or no.

If Hon. Gifford Pinchot does not have a large audience and a cordial welcome to Fort Wayne tonight the partisan spirit will be carried much farther here than we have suspected it could. Mr. Pinchot's welcome will not be a recognizance of the mission upon which he comes, but a wholehearted tribute of esteem and respect and admiration for a man who has performed a great work, who has shown superb courage and who has exposed a great wrong in a national administration. Gifford Pinchot is welcome to Fort Wayne and the acclaim with which we believe he will be received will be much more on this occasion for himself than for anyone or anything else.

Again we are assured that the failure of the agricultural department to establish a weather station here was due entirely to the perversity of the people of the Twelfth district in not returning Hon. Clarence C. Gilhams to congress. Fine business system that, if that is the way the weather bureau is run. It must account for the vagaries, the jokes, the plain and unmistakable blunders and unfounded prognostications that ensue in the continuous guessing contest between the wind bureau and the atmosphere. To revert to the local weather station, it probably will cover the matter to say that all along, and never so much so as now, it has been a cheap and transparent political fake.

It appears that over in our near sister state of Illinois it has been impossible to get any kind of legislation without paying for it. Mr. J. A. Patten, the late bull king of the wheat pit, cites as an instance that in order to get through the legislature a bill essential to a public park project in Evanston one of the men interested in behalf of the people was obliged to pay $2,500. It is a bad situation when boodling and graft have come to be accepted as of course. We would like to stretch our hands across the line in help, but there doesn't seem to be much that can be done for a people that willfully stand for what the Illinois legislature has been doing.

The republican chances in Ohio appear to be greatly improved by the ingorsing of Insurgent James Rudolph Garfield, who wants it popularly understood that what the Buckeye state needs is a doggoned sight less of General Charlie Dick in the United States senate. And he seems quite likely to prove it, too.

WONDERFUL CURE OF SORE HANDS

Skin Peeled and Flesh Got Hard and Broke—Blood Flowed in Fifty Places—"Single Box of Cuticura Ended Suffering."

"About eleven years ago I was troubled with sore hands, so sore that when I would put them in water the pain would very nearly set me crazy, the skin would peel off and the flesh would get hard and break. There would be blood flowing from at least fifty places on each hand. Words could never tell the suffering I endured for three years. I tried everything that I was told to use for fully three years, but could get no relief. I tried at least eight different doctors, but none of them seemed to do me any good, as my hands were as bad when I got through doctoring as when I first began. I also tried many remedies, but none of them ever did me one cent's worth of good. I was discouraged and heartsore. I would feel so bad mornings when I got up, to think I had to go to work and stand the pain for ten hours, and I often felt like giving up my position.

"Before I started to work mornings I would have to wrap every finger up separately, so as to try and keep them soft and then wear gloves over the rags to keep the grease from getting on my work. At night I would have to wear gloves in bed. In fact, I had to wear gloves all the time. After doctoring for three years, and spending much money, a single box of Cuticura Ointment ended all my sufferings. It's been eight years since I used any and I don't know what sore hands are now, and never lost a day's work while using Cuticura Ointment. Thomas A. Clancy, 310 N. Montgomery St., Trenton, N. J., Nov. 11, 1909."

A single set of Cuticura Soap and Ointment is often sufficient, rendering it the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

SUBWAYS IN BUENOS AYRES.

(Robert H. Reid in Chicago Daily News.)

After many years of discussion and suggestions by the different authorities in power in the Argentine Republic, permission has just been granted to construct two underground railways within the municipal area of Buenos Ayres, which has become absolutely necessary to relieve the congested traffic conditions in the narrow streets of the city.

Platforms at the stations are to be very wide and long, allowing for a train of eight cars to be drawn alongside. The access to the stations is to be by two wide stairs, the entrance and exit being distinct. The depth of the underground railway is to be 22.38 feet from the level of the street, thus necessitating only from thirty to thirty-five steps of the stair to ascend from or descend to the carriages.

The tunnel will be made of solid walls of cement and brick, with an arched roof amply high, as the current is to be from above. The way is to be formed of heavy rails to avoid vibration, resting upon sleepers of hardwood, these being laid upon a bed of small stones.

The current supply cables will be placed in the interior of the tunnel in special beds, with those for the lights and the signal apparatus, which will be protected by pipes of incombustible material. The two last mentioned cables will be supplied from a current independent of that of the motor, in such a manner that there will always be light for the cars and the signals. For this service batteries will be fitted with a supply for forty-eight hours.

The other underground concession is that granted to the Western Railway company, which authorizes it to extend its present lines from near Calle Sadi Carnot to a junction with the port lines of the capital, constructing them in a tunnel across the land of private owners and of the company and under Calle Bartolome Mitre, Plaza Once de Septiembre, and the Avenidas Ravadavia, Entre Rios and De Mayo, then rising in a cutting and continuing on the surface to a junction with the port lines. This line will run on a lower plane and is intended for the transport of goods.

These are the main particulars of the first concessions for the construction of underground railways in Buenos Ayres, and the first of the kind in South America. When completed the lines will be of immense benefit to the very rapidly growing population of the city, now numbering 1,500,000.

JUDGING MEATS IN THE MARKET.

How to Tell Whether the Meat or Game You Buy Is Tender and Fresh.

(Youth's Companion.)

Many housekeepers do their marketing by proxy—over the telephone, through the maid or butcher's boy—and judge it when served to them at dinner. Unfortunately this judgment comes too late, in the case of poor meat, and the family must be made to suffer.

Meat can and should be judged on the block before purchasing, by the housekeeper herself, or by someone in whom she has confidence. The first point to consider is odor. No matter how attractive looking the meat is, if the odor is not that of a fresh, wholesome meat it is unfit for use—unless the family taste is inclined toward "high" meats. Two or three days after killing acids develop which dissolve the myosin—the peculiar constituent of muscle—making the meat tender and improving the flavor; but this is the beginning of decomposition, and if meat is allowed to stand outside of cold storage this process proceeds so rapidly as to produce an offensive odor in a very short time.

The color of a young, well fed beef will be bright red. It will be well mottled with fat, and have a generous layer of fat surrounding the meat. Very pale color, with little or no fat, indicates veal; and a dark red, without fat, indicates old age and poor feeding.

Many housekeepers in buying spring lamb, neglect to specify which spring, and as a consequence are supplied with mutton which may have seen many a spring. Lamb should be less than a year old. Its age can be closely determined by the small bone at the lower leg joint. If this bone breaks easily just above the joint, the animal is still lamb; if, instead, it breaks at the joint, is is no longer lamb, but mutton, for the leg bone becomes too strong to break after a year's growth.

In buying dressed poultry the buyer must depend mainly on the appearance of the flesh and skin. The flesh should not be stiff or flabby, but should give gently when pressed. Cold storage birds are usually packed so close that the wings remain tightly pressed against the body, even after being unpacked some time. This squeezed look will distinguish them from freshly killed birds. When too stale, the flesh turns dark and greenish, the eyes shrink, and the feet become dry and hard. The skin should be clear and light yellow, free from pin feathers.

A drawn, tight look indicates scalding for plucking. Dry picking is to be preferred, because it insures better keeping qualities and gives the skin a more wholesome appearance. Poultry has a better flavor and keeps better when drawn, although some dealers dispute this fact. Decomposed conditions are induced by retaining the viscera, and few housekeepers care to risk using undrawn poultry or game.

The pliability of the end of the breast bone is a very common test for the age of a chicken. In a young bird, or broiler, this end bone will still be gristle of cartilage, and very easily bent. In a bird a year old it will be brittle, and in an older bird too tough and hard to bend. Butchers sometimes break the breast bone to make this test worthless.

A capon may be distinguished by a plumper, larger and rounder body than the ordinary fowl, and if the head is left on, it will be smaller and with a pale, withered comb. The feet, if left on, furnish a good test for age. In a young bird they are soft and smooth with claws short and sharp. In the old bird the feet are hard and rough, with long, blunt claws. The spur above the foot is scarcely apparent in a broiler, but it becomes long and straight at a year, and in the old bird long and crooked at the end.

Turkeys' feet are black until the birds are one year old. From that time until the age of three years they are pink, after that gray and dull. Pigeons' feet are red when the birds are old. In squabs and young pigeons the breast meat is whitish; it becomes more or less purple with age.

NO "SECOND CLASS" TRAINS.

(Chicago Examiner.)

A very few years hence there will be no such thing as a second class compartment on any English railway. The Great Western company, which recently abolished the second class on its main line, has now decided to do away with it on its suburban routes. The Midland company no longer runs second class compartments, nor does the Great Central, and it is only a question of time when all other railways will follow suit.

The old idea was that the aristocracy traveled first class, the middle classes second, and the lower classes third. The underground railways and the tubes have had a remarkably democratic effect on Londoners.

On several of the tubes the cars are all alike and it is a common sight in the mornings nowadays to see a peer who is on the board of some city company traveling downtown sandwiched between two dusty bricklayers or at an employer glaring across the gangway at one of his own unpunctual clerks.

The District Underground railway still clings to first and third class, but it has abolished the second. The first class is only moderately patronized and this company is already beginning to consider the advisability of the one class system. For many years it has been the custom for wealthy people to send their butlers, footmen and maids second class, and this has done more than anything, so the railway directors say, to kill this particular traffic.

RAISING HIS TEMPERATURE.

(Youth's Companion.)

One of the things which help swell the traveler's expenses, both in this country and abroad, is the "extra." It may or may not be charged in the bill, but it is sure to be paid for. Probably even the most generous traveler, however, will have some sympathy for the gentleman in the following story who was made to pay liberally for a certain annoying privilege.

During his stay at the hotel the weather had been very hot.

"Charles," said the landlord to the clerk who was making out the bill to be presented to the departing guest, "have you noticed that the gentleman in No. 7 has consulted the thermometer on the plaza at least ten times every morning during his stay here?"

Charles replied that he had.

"Well," said the landlord, "charge him the price of one dinner a day for the use of the thermometer."—Youth's Companion.

HAS IMMENSE AUDIENCES.

Evangelistic Meetings Held by Dr. Chapman at Chicago.

Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, who is to hold a three weeks' series of evangelistic meetings here, commencing the latter part of November, is being greeted by immense audiences in Chicago, where on Sunday last he began a six weeks' evangelistic campaign. The big White City auditorium, where the main services are held has been packed every night and people turned away, unable to gain admittance. He is assisted by a number of other evangelists, among whom is Rev. Dr. Frank M. Fox, who has charge of the meetings held in the Maplewood district at the Grace Congregational church. There are over a score of these assisting evangelists and day and evening meetings are held in as many different parts of the city. Judging by the Chicago papers, which gives extended accounts of the services, Dr. Chapman is waking up the sinners of that wicked city and his meetings will accomplish great good. Anyhow, rich and poor, high and low, saint and sinner, crowd to hear him and touch elbows in the great audience in the day and night meetings. Dr. Chapman will come to Fort Wayne directly after finishing his meetings at Chicago.

HAD A SPELLING BEE.

Arthur Gordon Proved Himself to Be Best Speller.

The Men's Brotherhood of the Simpson M. E. church held an interesting spelling match last evening at the church. There were fourteen on a side with Loren Springer and W. S. Hackett as leaders and the latter's side won, Arthur Gordon being the last left standing on the floor. The pronouncer was Rev. W. A. Griest, who used a spelling book that bore the date of 1801, one his grandfather had when he attended school. Miss Edith Squires was the last speller to go down on the word "imaginary." "Apoplexy" caught the third last speller on the floor.

JOHNSTONE SET A A NEW AMERICAN RECORD

Aviator in Wright Flying Machine Sets a Fresh Mark for Height.

New York, Oct. 26.—The American altitude record that J. Armstrong Drexel so proudly brought down out of the clouds Monday afternoon in his Bleriot monoplane was snatched from his grasp yesterday by Ralph Johnstone in a headless Wright climber. Drexel reached 7,105 feet, but Johnstone topped him yesterday by 198 feet with a new mark of 7,303 feet.

Johnstone came down chilled to the bone, and his goggles rimmed with frost. For half an hour he had battled with a snow storm above the clouds, seeking still higher levels. The undemonstrative Wilbur Wright danced with joy when he glanced at the barograph.

"It's better than 2,000 meters," he cried, and began to prance again. He knew then that the fourth day of the international aviation meet at Belmont Park, L. I., had brought him his share of honors.

Latham Startles Crowd.

Hubert Latham, in an Antoinette monoplane, frightened the crowd when he began to do aerial flip-flaps under the edge of a nasty looking storm cloud half a mile up in the air. He righted and then shot to earth in one steep, rushing swoop. The edges of a tree brushed his descent and punctured one of his wing surfaces, but he landed with only minor injuries to his machine and none to himself.

When the meet began, with the hourly competition for distance that regularly opens the day's program, the banging of the bomb found Grahame-White out for his daily promenade around the track. Latham was his only competitor, and when engine trouble forced Grahame-White's Farman biplane off the field it looked as if Latham, in his flying-fish Antoinette, would have the event to himself. But White was not to be caught napping. He saw that the scantiest score whatsoever would bring him second place, and late in the hour tinkered up his colicky engine to last two rounds and took down the easiest $100 of the tournament.

Two Up for Altitude.

Hoxsey and Johnstone both went up for altitude. Johnstone had entered for distance, but just before he left the ground Wilbur Wright instructed him to go after altitude. In the haste of the moment they both forgot that he was without a barograph, the instrument which records height, and when he came down from the upper levels he had nothing to show how high he had gone and was left unplaced. The Count de Lesseps pointed up much later than the two Wright pupils, but caught them both and, soaring above them, brought down the prize for the first hour.

The second hourly distance event was a pursuit race. Grahame-White tried his Farman again, found it unreliable, took it off the field for repairs, and during his absence saw the lead he gained by his watchful promptness steadily cut down by speedier rivals who had started later. Hopeless of getting his Farman into running order again, Grahame-White took out his fast Bleriot monoplane, the first time he has been seen in it here in competition. He gained steadily on McCurdy, in a Curtiss biplane, but the latter finished first with a lap to the good. It turned out, however, that McCurdy had fouled two prious in trying to cut the corners fine, and the forfeit cost him first place.

Clouds Begin to Gather.

In the meantime Hoxsey and Johnstone had gone up for altitude again, accompanied this time by Latham in his Antoinette. The wind had ranged steadily all afternoon at between eight and twelve miles an hour, but now angry-looking clouds began to bank up in the north and soon there was a patter of rain. The Antoinette, most beautiful of monoplanes, was soaring right at the edge or a particularly black cloud, its perfect profile in sharp outline—a picture of graceful, assured poise.

Hoxsey, right over the center of the field, seemed the higher though, and Johnstone, far out beyond the back of the grand stand, hidden from those in the boxes and on the benches, was weaving his way in and out of the lost completely and again glinting clouds, now half-hidden in mist, now bright in the sunlight.

Latham in Peril.

Suddenly the Antoinette began to caper like a buck and wing dancer. The people remembered that Latham has perfect confidence in himself and that he laughs at accidents. The history of the Antoinette is his history. He boasts that he has broken every part of it at least twelve times. Once he fell 1,000 feet, perfectly helpless, but his plane parachuted and saved him. So the crowd thought Latham was only doing somersaults to please them. But he was not; he was in real peril.

He had started to come down when he felt the rain and had been caught in a wind flaw. Tossed to one side and the other, first up and then down, he tilted his planes and shot down in a swoop as swift as any falcon's. In a matter of seconds the rush of his descent had eaten up the half mile between him and the earth and he was hidden behind a clump of trees. Ely, in a Curtiss biplane, went out to reconnoiter and found Latham with nothing worse than a punctured wing and a broken skid.

Meanwhile Johnstone was battling with winter weather in the clouds. He said afterward that he meant to try for a new world's record and that he believed he should have got it if the frost on his goggles had not blinded him. His descent was so equably accomplished that there was a cry of surprise from the stands when his machine was recognized.

Was Going Some.

The last event of the day was full of uncertainty and suspense. With very little preliminary maneuvering F. W. Radley, of the British team, flashed over the line in a Bleriot and vanished into the east before it was known to any but the judges that he had started in the cross-country race of twenty miles to a captive balloon ten miles east of the course and back again.

In less than seven minutes word came back that he had rounded the balloon. His time seemed incredible and it was agreed that there must be a difference between the chronometer at the judges' stand and the observers' watch at the balloon. While the matter was still being argued Radley was back again. He had done the twenty miles in express train speed, at better than sixty miles an hour. His exact time was nineteen minutes forty-eight and two-fifths seconds.

Moisant, in his passenger carrying Bleriot, started almost as Radley finished, and was shortly followed by McCurdy in a Curtiss biplane and Drexel in a Bleriot, at intervals of approximately one minute. All three of them got lost and Drexel and McCurdy never finished. Moisant came back in very slow time, and reported that he had searched for the balloon in vain through a thick fog.

Engine a "Man Eater."

While the crowd was waiting for news of them Hamilton took out his 115-horse power racer, but had engine trouble and came down. Hamilton believes he can make great speed, but admits, in his own words, that his engine is "a man eater." Appropriately enough it has a roar like a dragon and belches fire in the best mythological manner.

While it may be true, as has been asserted since the disaster in the North river, in which a score or more of the New Hampshire's crew were drowned, that 20 per cent. of the enlisted men of the navy can not swim, their officers without exception can. At the Naval academy midshipmen who can not show a certain degree of proficiency in swimming are compelled to take a course of lessons.—New York Tribune.

A RATE SUSPENSION IS ORDERED BY THE BOARD

Trans-Continental Lines in Certain Commodities Overcharging.

Washington, Oct. 26.—An order was issued by the interstate commerce commission today suspending the tariffs on staves, headings and lumber recently filed with the commission by the trans-continental freight bureau's agents. The rates proposed in the tariffs suspended are considerable advances over the present rates from all eastern points of origin to destinations west as far as Pacific coast terminals. The tariffs, which were to have become effective on Nov. 15, 1910, are suspended until March 15, 1911. Meantime the commission will conduct an inquiry into the reasonableness of the proposed advances and announce its decision. The defendants in the proceeding include all of the important interstate carriers in the United States—over 600 in number.

Announcement was also made by the commission of the issuance of an order suspending the proposed advance in rates on cement filed with the commission by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the Missouri Pacific, the Southwestern lines tariff, the St. Louis & San Francisco and the Union Pacific. The tariffs were to have become effective Nov. 1, 1910. They are suspended until March 1, 1911. An investigation into the reasonableness of the proposed advances will be made by the commission prior to the expiration of the suspension order. The roads participating in these tariffs are made defendants in the proceedings, no date for which has yet been fixed. Proposed advances in live stock rates between Missouri river transfers and Mississippi river transfers and Chicago were suspended today by the commission, pending an investigation of their reasonableness. The tariffs were to have become effective on Nov. 1 and are suspended until Dec. 10, 1910. Meantime on the 29th inst. at Kansas City, Mo., the commission will institute a hearing respecting the reasonableness of the proposed increases.

MUST STAND DURING TRANSIT.

Washington, Oct. 26.—By a decision of the interstate commerce commission handed down today it is not lawful for interstate freight carriers to advance the rates on shipments during the period of their transportation.

The decision was rendered in two cases which were joined in the proceedings. The cases were instituted by the Southern Cotton Oil company against the Atlantic Coast Line and against the Central of Georgia railroad. Crude cottonseed oil was shipped into Savannah, Ga., on local rates from Georgia and Alabama points, there refined and then reshipped on the remainder of the through rates from the several points of origin to ultimate destinations. It happened that between the inbound and outbound movements to and from Savannah the rates were advanced on cottonseed oil 2 cents a hundred pounds. The defendant lines thereupon applied to the outbound movements the higher through rates at the time of reshipment. It was held by the commission that the legal rates applicable on reshipments were the rates in effect at the time the shipments started from the points of origin.

Taylor Arnold, of Nine Mile Prairie, who own more land in Callaway county than any other man, bought his first umbrella while he was in Fulton Monday. "I had to do it," he told a representative of the Gazette. "I came off up here to stock sales and left both my raincoats at home, and when this rain came up I had to buy an umbrella to keep from getting soaking wet. Before today I never carried one of the things over a hundred yards in my life, and I hardly know how to use this one. I can say something else mighty few men can say," Mr. Arnold added. "I am sixty-three years old and I have never owned a watch."—Fulton (Mo.) Gazette.

WIDE BRAID USED ON GOWN.

Braid trimmings are exceptionally wide, for eight inches across the front of a garment is not an unusual measurement. Of course these wide braids are expensive, ranging from four to five dollars for a single yard.

This smart velvet suit is effectively trimmed with wide braid in panel style. Uncut velvet in a pepper and salt effect is combined with plain black panne velvet with extremely smart result. Cord ornaments and deep fringe complete the richness of this clever little costume.

The Opening Session.

There was a large attendance of visiting women when the initial session of the state federation was held last evening in the auditorium of the new high school building.

The afternoon was given to registration and committee meetings and last night's session was in the nature of a welcome. Greetings were extended from the local clubs by Mrs. Allen D. Hole and from the community at large by William Dudley Foulke and Stephen S. Stratton, the latter representing especially the school interests. The response was by Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, of Cambridge City, first vice president of the state body.

Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke, of Irvington, state president, delivered her annual address in which she reviewed the work of the year and outlined to some extent what it is hoped to accomplish in the future. A reception followed in the art gallery of the school building, where the annual display is in progress.

KNITTED COSTUMES.

Paris has taken up the vogue of knitted goods, and taken it up with a will. The latest fancy is the three-piece costume, consisting of cap, gloves and sweater coat. This is intended primarily for skating, etc., but will be worn this winter even on the street. The coats are very long, with deep pockets and with leather revers or turnback cuffs.

Among caps, there are the tam-o'-shanter and the capuchon types, the latter buttoning in front and having a warm little cape that fits about the neck and shoulders.

Even knitted skirts are not unknown, and are a joy forever to the happy autumn golfer. All these garments are made to fit rather snugly, and do not require belts or any other form of extra fastening. Gray, white, brown and green are the favorite colors.

If you know how to knit, or can learn how, here is the way to make yourself a pretty and fashionable set for winter that will be warmth itself when warmth is most desired.

A MACHINE HINT.

When the sewing machine hand becomes too loose, do not cut it, but put a few drops of castor oil on and revolve rapidly a few seconds. The oil shrinks the machine belt.

BUTTONHOLES.

CITY BREVITIES.

John C. Norton, of Cassopolis, Mich., will arrive today to visit his son, M. L. Norton, manager of the Red Line Messenger and Employment office.

I. W. Johnson, manager of the new Cushion Heel Shoe company, is expected to arrive in the city next week.

Eliza Adfield, of Fort Wayne, enlisted in the coast artillery at the local recruiting station this morning.

Quartermaster Singleton, in charge of the local navy recruiting station, made his weekly trip to Lima yesterday and examined four applicants for enlistment, and was forced to reject them as they were unable to pass the physical examination.

John C. Norton, manager of the Red Line Messenger and Employment agency, states that a good many mechanics are coming through the city at the present time, in search of work and that the majority of them are compelled to seek farther as work in this line is scarce.

THE INFANTILE SCOURGE.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 26.—Since June 1, 205 cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to the state board of health. Of this number 23 have resulted in death. Nine other suspected cases are being watched. Every effort to determine the cause, treatment and cure of the malady has proven practically futile.

Attractive Games for Hallowe'en Entertainments

"Knocks" and Fortune Telling Will Make Merry the Eve of St. Agnes.

People who intend entertaining on Hallowe'en are always on the lookout for games and tricks for entertainment, especially such as will merely amuse and not annoy anyone not in the party. While the list given is not a new one there may be something that will seem new because it had been forgotten.

Black Cat Contest.

For boys and girls a "black cat" contest provides plenty of fun. At one end of the room hang a white sheet or a sheet of heavy manilla paper upon which has been pinned or sketched a hideous looking, big black cat. Supply each guest with a black tail and pin, then blindfold each in turn and let them attempt to place the tail in its proper position.

The Door Key Charm.

Hold a door key in one hand, with the other pour melted lead from a big iron spoon through the key handle into a dish of cold water. The shape the lead takes will indicate the profession of one's future mate. In Russia melted lard is used in place of lead. Two or three drops will suffice.

Ships That Pass in the Night.

For this provide a number of halves of English walnut shells and fasten in them the tiniest candles that can be found. To do this soften the bottom of each little taper over a match then stick in place. Provide each guest with two, or even three, if desired, so that one can be named for the person owning the boat and the other or others for possible affinities. Have a large tub or pan of water on the table and at a given signal let each captain light his fairy craft and set it sailing.

If the other lights in the room are turned down the surface of the mimic ocean will look charming with its lighted craft passing and repassing. The little ships must not be stirred by even a breath, but the future can be divined by all the circumstances connected with their voyaging. Sometimes two of the little craft will pair immediately and again they drift away from each other. If the candles do not light easily there is supposed to be trouble brewing.

Snap Dragon.

This is one of the oldest games associated with Hallowe'en. The "dragons," which must be prepared before the party, consist of strips of paper with fortunes written on them, usually in verse. These are then folded and wrapped snugly in tea lead of tinfoil and placed in a large pan of water, over which alcohol is poured. This should be done at the side of the dish, allowing it to filter down gently so the two fluids may not mix. The alcohol is then set in fire, when each person in turn snatches a "dragon" from the dish to find therein his fortune.

Here, too, a word of caution, that the dish containing the alcohol be placed where there is no danger of the drops of burning alcohol setting fire to any object, and that the dragons, as soon as removed, be put in a tin dish to cool.

Dumb Cake.

Seven girls are supposed to take part in the making of this cake and during its concoction not a word must be uttered. The sterner sex are banished. The cake, made of nothing but flour and water, is mixed to a stiff dough and placed in a pan. If any one so far forgets herself as to speak she is thrust out of the charmed circle, and according to a legend, will be the last to wed.

On the top of the cake when ready for the oven each girl pricks her initials with those of her "best beloved" with a new pin and the cake is put in the oven to bake exactly ten minutes, silence still prevailing. When the baking is accomplished those whose initials are still to be seen may count upon being married before the year is out.

Then when the door is opened and a man enters the girl upon whom his eye first rests will be the first of the seven to be led to the altar.

Fate Cake.

This may be made with any amount of talking going on, but each girl must have a hand in the stirring. While any cake batter may be used for this fateful cake, a hickory nut cake, one made in this way, is usually selected. Beat to a cream in a warm earthen bowl one cupful butter. Add gradually a cup and a half sugar, and then the yolks of three eggs beaten until lemon colored and thick. Flavor with a teaspoonful vanilla and a quarter teaspoonful mace. Sift into three cups flour, two rounding teaspoonfuls baking powder or a half teaspoonful soda and one of cream of tartar. Have measured a half cupful milk and add milk and flour alternately, a little at a time, beating thoroughly. Lastly add the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Have ready a good sized round cake tin, lined with buttered paper and as many tiny trinkets wrapped in oiled paper as are desired. There should be a ring to show who is first to be married, a thimble for the spinster, a dime for the one predestined to wealth, a pipe for the bachelor and other little favors that may be considered prophetic of the future.

Pour the cake in the pan, slipping in the trinkets at proper intervals, then bake in a moderate oven for forty or fifty minutes.

IN THE THEATERS

The Latimore and Leigh Stock company will present "The Maid and the Man" at the Majestic theater this evening. While this is a melodramatic offering, there is a strong love story and plenty of good comedy, which makes the play pleasing to all classes. The bill for tomorrow, matinee and night will be the "Creole's Revenge," and on Friday afternoon and evening "St. Elmo" will be presented.

The Latimore and Leigh box mystery has invited a challenge from the Fixley Clothing company and on Friday evening this store will furnish a store box for this much-talked about mystery act, to be used in place of the cabinet carried by Latimore and Leigh.

THE SHINE ON SERGE.

Skirts, especially serge skirts, always become slick and shiny looking before they are nearly worn out.

To remedy this, place the skirt on a board and rub the shiny places with sandpaper, not too hard, but just enough to roughen the nap. After pressing, the skirt will look as good as new.

RECIPES.

Tomato Souffle.

Scald and skin a quart of tomatoes. Cut into bits, add one-half of a small onion and stew, uncovered, for half an hour. Drain off the more liquid portion—it can be used for soups or stews—and rub the thick pulp through a sieve. Return to the fire and cook slowly until it is very thick. Measure and to each cupful allow three eggs. Season highly with salt and pepper, let stand until partly cooled, then add the beaten yolks. Whip the whites to a stiff dry froth, mix them lightly with the tomato, turn into small cases, bake in a hot oven for ten minutes and send immediately to the table, as they quickly fall.

Marlborough Pie.

To one pint of freshly made hot apple sauce add one tablespoonful of butter, stir until melted and mixed, then set away until cold. Add the yolks of three well beaten eggs, the grated rind and strained juice of a lemon, one cupful of cream and one cupful of sugar. Line two deep pie plates with puff paste, fill with the mixture and bake half an hour in a quick oven. Whip the whites of the eggs to a froth, add two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and beat until stiff and glossy. Heap over the pie dredge thickly with powdered sugar and stand in the oven until lightly colored. Serve cold.

ZANESVILLE TO TRY ANOTHER SEASON IN LEAGUE

Montgomery May Retain the Management of the 1911 Team.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 26.—If the efforts of the business and professional men bear fruit this winter this city will retain its place in the Central league and Roy Montgomery, who has made himself popular here, will guide the destinies of the club, although his resignation was tendered and accepted at a recent meeting of the directors.

About $8,000 will be necessary to pay the present indebtedness of the club and to put it on a sound footing for next year, and if this amount is raised the old manager will stick another season and Zanesville will have the kind of ball that is needed to make the game popular.

There is due Montgomery about $600 in back salary and he has never in his two years with the club had a full pay day. He has given the money on hand to his men and if there was any left he satisfied himself with it. This back salary will be paid him and he insists that if he becomes the manager next year he must start with sufficient money to buy some players and get into the league with an organization that will be up and fighting all the time.

In the absence of Secretary T. M. Lynn, the annual report of the finances of the company was read by Henry Schubach, temporary secretary. During the season just passed the total receipts were $27,-530.84. The expenditures were something like $1,200 over this sum. At the present time the total indebtedness of the company is $3,191.09. Part of this latter amount is collectable, and if the new directors are successful in having even a part turned into the coffers, the should not be much over $2,000 outstanding when conditions are canvassed for the coming year.

The greatest setback the club encountered during the season just closed was the remarkable falling off in attendance. The total paid admissions were 31,687, showing a decrease of over 21,000 from the previous season. The attendance on the road was satisfactory, and the company could have more than broken even on the season if the Zanesville fans had been more in evidence in the games. But there were other elements that entered into the question of light attendance, such as a rainy spring weather, miserable street car service, and the necessity of canceling a large number of exhibition games.

While numerous plans were devised for the raising of the required $8,000, the most plausible was getting eighty men to give $100 each, or 160 men $50 each. Nearly every stockholder present came forward with a statement of his willingness to contribute at once, or at any time in the future, without hope of reward or remuneration. It was thought that the money could be raised in less than a week's time. There was also a strong sentiment against the selling or disposing of the franchise to outside parties.

Owing to the time occupied in the preliminary feeling out of the sentiment of the stockholders and directors, the election of a board of directors and president was postponed until Monday, November 14.

Boston Woman's Will Disposes of Estate She Expected to Inherit.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 26.—Believing herself a beneficiary to the extent of $1,000,000 in the will of a rich man in New York, whose name is not disclosed, Miss Cora Johnson, who died here a few days ago, left a will disposing of such property, although being possessed herself of only $100 at her death.

Miss Johnson, of whom little is known, makes several public bequests of $5,000 each to hospitals and homes. She also leaves $500,000 in trust for the benefit of Charles Edward Holbrook, son of Henry W. Holbrook, of Newton, Mass., the boy to receive the principal at the age of 25 years.

HERRMAN SORE AND SAYS DEAL HAS TO STAND

Horace Fogel Tries to Block Trade Made by Manager Dooin.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 26.—"I shall fight to the last ditch to carry out the deal between the Cincinnati and Philadelphia league base ball clubs. The very principles of organized base ball are at stake in this affair and if President Fogel, of the Philadelphia club, can call off a trade after it has been signed up and witnessed then the foundation upon which organized base ball stands is taken away."

This was the statement made today by President August Herrmann, of the Cincinnati club, when shown a telegram from Manager Charles S. Dooin, of Philadelphia, which read:

"Fogel blocked deal and called it off."

This message revealed the fact that Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia club, is seeking to stop a trade by which Cincinnati gets Outfielder Bates, Third Baseman Grant and Pitchers McQuillen and Moren in exchange for Outfielder Paskert, Third Baseman Lobert and Pitchers Beebe and Rowan.

WALKOVERS FIND AN EASY VICTIM IN FOX FIVE

Youngsters Run Good Scores and Finish Up With Fine Averages.

Game scheduled tonight postponed.

In the First Brunswick league games the Walkovers had an easy victim in the reconstructed Fox Brothers five and took three straight without being forced to extend themselves. The youngsters on the shoe team cut in with some good scores and the team average for the series was high.

Bartels tabbed 200 in the second game and Carr chased him, finishing with an even double. In the third Carr ran 213 and took the honors. Meister rolled 200 in his second game and got high individual score and average. The scores:

Princeton Men Assert Chance Remark Aroused Friend to Anger.

Princeton, Ind., Oct. 26.—Charles Love is under arrest here charged with assault and battery with intent to kill, after having, it is alleged, locked Mike Drewery and Charles Cloin in a room with himself and attacked them with a knife, slashing their clothes into ribbons and inflicting several ugly knife wounds on both as he chased them from corner to corner, before the two could break open the door and escape. It is asserted Drewery and Cloin went to see Love at his home and one of them said something Love did not like, whereupon he locked the doors of the room, struck Cloin in the head with a bottle and attacked both men with the knife. Love says he is not guilty.

Best Poker Player of the Cubs

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—The harvest days are here for Tom Needham. Be it aboard the rattler, in the hotel or on the ball field, the Steubenville Streak is a league leader. Such an able judge of expert poker playing as Charles Webb Murphy long since slipped the palm to his smiling, care-free backstopper. At the big meal slicing after the world's series Tom further demonstrated his skill and money-making talents. Strange as it may seem, the wind-jed artist, kept under cover most of the season, wound up the year with a bank account that would almost choke a goat. Great noodle on Deerfoot, as Needham is styled in big league society circles. He isn't the fastest runner in the world, but the race isn't always for the swift. Tom demonstrated the truth of this time-honored adage most conclusively when he cashed two checks—one for $1,315.78 and another for $1,...6, together with other bits of peerless paper calling for smaller sums. All told, Thomas, old top, has earned $3,156.22 above his salary by physical and mental labor since the National league flag race was set in motion April 14 at Cincinnati. Of this sum $80.44 is Needham's share of the barnstorming wampum. For his bit as a participant in the world series Tom received $1,315.78, plus eight days' pay due him for toting the big mitt since October 15, when the playing season of the parent body ended. The check for $1,936 represented Tom's winnings in the hotels or aboard the Pullmans when the champs were flitting from town to town. Tom is the peer of 'em all when the P. G. foode for poker) is set a-going. He can deal an ace, a deuce or a king with simple grace and manner mild like stealing posies from a child. Be it pinochle, pareneesi, deuces wild, plain, ordinary, everyday pairs, threes, fours, rushes, straights or royal flushes, Tom is there forty ways from the jack. Otherwise he never could have amassed that $1,936, which, however, only represents a percentage of the coin due him after heated sessions over the portable table in the Twilight league. The share allotted Needham for his part in the world championship will be tendered Tom's 7-year-old son, who is attending school in Steubenville. "I'm going to give my boy the money earned in this series," said Tom, "and next Tuesday I'll join Brownie and Overall in a trip to California. We will stay on the coast playing in a few exhibition games with teams in that country until time to return."

WARM STRUGGLE IN THE SERIES AT ST. MARY'S

Home Builders and the Shields Finish With Same Totals.

In a game featured by the unusual occurrence that both teams made exactly the same number of pins, the Fort Wayne Home Builders took two out of three games from the Shields at St. Mary's alleys last night.

The struggle was the warmest of the season and the margins were small in every game and none of them was won until the last man had bowled. Obergfell got away with a double in his opening game, but fell down badly in the third and his slump beat his club. Tony Haas beat out his pards for the high marks and Obergfell and Mettler split for the losers. The scores:

DISEASES MENACE ALEUTS.

Revenue Cutter Reports Islanders Are Threatened With Extinction.

Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 26.—The natives of the Aleutian islands are threatened with extinction because of the ravages of tuberculosis, measles and pneumonia, according to a report brought yesterday by the revenue cutter Tahoma, flagship of the Bering seal patrol fleet. Capt. J. H. Quinlan says conditions in the archipelago are pathetic.

The Tahoma will make a report to the National Geographic society on the new eruption of Mount Bogoslov. Castle Rock, one of the largest Bogoslov islands, greatly increased in size during the year; Perry island, which disappeared in an eruption two years ago, has reappeared and a new island has been thrown up. The latter has been named Tahoma Island.

AN AMERICAN SAMURAI.

(Human Life.)

Gen. William Verbeck, the recently appointed adjutant general of New York, succeeding Gen. Nelson H. Henry as the chief officer of the national guard of the state of New York, might almost be called an American Samurai. Born in Nagasaki, brought up in the strictest military discipline, mingling with Japanese boys of his own age of the higher classes, who were destined to become soldiers, entering into their games and sports with a true American zest and fervor, believing Japanese traditions and practicing with their weapons, his military environment was such that the profession of arms seemed to him as a youth the noblest in the world. By the time he had arrived at maturity, his skill in the game of war was unquestioned, and he had made himself an adept in handling Japanese weapons, even the short two-handled sword which demands such lightning-like dexterity and swiftness of eye and hand.

General Verbeck remained in Japan until sixteen years of age, always in a military environment, coming, however, to California in 1880, to enlist in the Fifth California infantry, where he served successively as private, quartermaster sergeant, sergeant major, first lieutenant, quartermaster captain, adjutant and major.

The greatest bank, says Harper's Weekly, is the bank of England, in London; the oldest college is University college, Oxford, founded in 1850; the largest library, the National, in Paris, containing nearly 3,000,000 volumes.

ADMIRERS BOUGHT A WHITE ELEPHANT FOR MACK

Insisted Upon Presenting the Beast to the Athletic Boss.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 26.—There is danger that Connie Mack, pilot of the world's champion Athletics, will be killed by kindness. Today several local admirers endeavored to present him with a real live white elephant of two tons weight and with an appetite that demands at least three bales of hay.

As Connie sat in the front window of his home he saw a procession coming up the street. In the vanguard was the elephant. Connie saw it first. He did not wait to make a polite society "out at home" announcement. Connie just hurdled all the back fences to escape from the kindness of his friends. He escaped for the time being and left his mother, the aged Mrs. McGillicuddy, to repel boarders. She did it with tears in her eyes. She informed the "frenzied fans" that Connie was not at home, that she had no place to put an elephant, and that the garret was full of discarded baseball uniforms.

Even the fact the elephant had been given a generous coat of whitewash to make the beast sacred did not appeal to Mrs. Gillicuddy. White or mouse colored, it looked all the same to her. She didn't propose to put Connie into bankruptcy, and she wouldn't receive the beast.

After threatening to chain the white elephant to the front porch and arguing with Mrs. Gillicuddy for an hour the fans eventually led the animal back to a down town stable. Then, and not until then Connie slipped back into the house.

The elephant was purchased from a New York dealer by the Vare Brothers, local contractors, Magistrate Hughes, and fifty other fans. They are paying the board of the beast, and are wondering how they can persuade Connie to accept it as a mascot for the Athletics.

WILL GGET MONEY BACK.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—The 2,500 or 3,000 Chicago baseball fans, who have been accusing the national commission, the Chicago National league club, and everybody else connected with baseball of all kinds of crimes, from grand larceny to murder, probably will receive by tonight the checks which they mailed for seats to the world's series without getting any run for their money.

The work of remailing applications which could not be filled was expected to be finished before daylight in time to get the last of the letters into this morning's mail. Work on this job has been going on day and night at the Grand Pacific hotel since Monday morning as fast as a force of eight men, pausing only to snatch a bite to eat and a few winks of sleep, could do it.

COLE GETS BONUS AND RAISE.

Will Play With Chicago for Next Three Years.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—Cole has come into his reward. From now on until the season of 1911 is set in motion the lanky flinger who starred for the Cubs in their National league pennant dash can rest on Easy street in one of the little Michigan towns.

As a farewell greeting before hopping out of Chicago the King yesterday signed a contract calling for three years' service under President Murphy. Especial interest attaches to the document for the simple reason the west side magnate doubled the King's salary and for good measure slipped him a bonus.

GRIFFITH REDS' BOSS IN 1911.

"Old Fox" Signs New Contract With President Herrmann Yesterday.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 26.—If the Reds prove to be one of the teams that keeps the Cubs from bagging another National pennant in 1911, the fine Italian hand of Clark Griffith will be largely responsible for such a disaster, for the wily "old fox" has been engaged by the Cincinnati management to boss the Reds next season.

President Garry Herrmann is well pleased with Griffith's management during the season just past, and particularly over the defeat of Cleveland for the Ohio state title. Griffith will be given a free hand in 1911 and Herrmann believes that with a wealth of new material to pick from the former Chicago pitcher will develop a championship contender for Cincinnati.

IT WAS DIFFERENT THEN.

The father of a family becoming annoyed at the faultfinding of his children over their food, exclaimed in a rage one day at dinner: "You children are intolerable; you turn up your noses at everything! When I was a boy I was often glad enough to get bread to eat."

"Poor papa," said Rose, the pet of the family; "I am so glad you are having such nice times now, living with mamma and us!"—Detroit News

Tidbits of Sporting News

George Block, who played with Paducah, Ky., last season, has been signed to catch for Terre Haute next year.

Babe Waddell and Infielder Blake, secured from Lancaster last fall, have been turned over to Columbus by the St. Louis Americans. Blake is a youngster not quite ready for the big league.

Christy Mathewson and "Chief" Meyers made their first appearance this week at Hammerstein's in New York in a skit called "Curves." Miss May Tulley is assisting in staging the affair.

Improvements are to be made at the Evansville ball park which will do away with that short left field fence that has been so successfully used to pile up home run records for the members of the team.

Pat Newman, first baseman of the St. Louis Americans, will form a team of professionals at San Antonio, Tex., and play ball all winter. Climatic conditions will admit of games at any season of the year.

Babe Myers has spiked the rumor that he will fill one of the managerial vacancies in the Central league next season by the announcement that he will be back at Quincy where he won a pennant last season.

Hans Wagner blames his broken rib for his inability to win the automobile given for the highest batting average this year. But he has purchased a 1911 machine and will ride anyway, even if he didn't win his car with the bat.

Pitcher Ed Reulbach, of the Cubs, surely had the Cincinnati Reds for marks this season. He won five games from them and lost only one. Big Ed doubtless wishes he could pitch against Griffith's men in the whole season round.

Pretty soft for Garry Herrmann. Being a member of the national commission he comes in on the rakeoff from the Cub-Athletic series and also the Giants-Highlanders series. Then he is the leading spirit of the Cincinnati club and grabs off a good sized hunk of the Reds-Naps series proceeds.

Ollie Gfroerer, member of the Evansville baseball team of the Central league, of who last season managed the McLeansboro, Ill., team in the Kitty league, has been selected to manage the Paducah team in the Kitty league for the season of 1911. Gfroerer started with the Paducah team in 1898 and this will be his first season with them since that time.

It is said on good authority that Arlie Latham will not wear a Giant uniform next year, as he will be let out to make room in the eligible list for some useful player. Latham is more than fifty years old and noisy coaching is his only asset. He may amuse old timers who remember him as a great ball player with Comiskey's St. Louis Browns, but the new generation of fans seems to regard his efforts on the lines with disfavor.

"I will have no ball players on my club who drink beer or whisky during the playing season." Is President Barney Dreyfuss' reply to Howard Camnitz's threat to desert the Pirates for good, unless he receives a $1,200 bonus. "For the season of 1911 every player will be required to abstain from drinking the entire playing season. Any of our present players who feel that they cannot comply with this condition will not receive any other contract."

"MUST HAVES" FOR THE KITCHEN

Good Cooking Utensils Lighten Work and Make it a Pleasure.

(Boston Traveler.)

"There has never been the proper system in the home," said Mrs. Allen G. Kirk, decidedly, "and it is my object to teach the girls of the next generation to have a system. Homekeeping is a profession. Homekeepers should realize it.

"In the first place, a kitchen should be so arranged as to make for ease and efficiency. A woman should have her tables and her dishpans high enough so that she can work at them without stooping.

"If she lives in a house where they are low, she should devise some means to raise them to the right height. What woman can greet her husband cheerily at night when her back aches from bending over her cooking? Then, too, everything in that kitchen should be arranged in the right relation to everything else, in order to save steps."

Mrs. Kirk paused for a moment, studying her little play kitchen with a smile.

"The very first rule for brightening a kitchen is this—aluminize your stove! It will aluminize your soul! I wouldn't have a black stove in my kitchen," she said emphatically.

"In buying utensils for the kitchen, the motto should be, 'The best is the cheapest.' There are some that are really 'must haves.' Anything that saves labor is. A kitchen cabinet is an example. It saves steps and work. Every woman ought to have one. And she should have a high stool, which can be moved easily, and on which you can perch if you have a moment now and then.

"For small utensils there are a dozen or so that seem absolutely necessary," Mrs. Kirk moved about the kitchen, touching an article here and there, thoughtfully, while she told its merits. I followed, making notes as she spoke, as I would of the utterances of an oracle.

"A bread mixer is one of them, for bread is the very first thing in the life of a home. Then a food chopper and a casserole. Mrs. Kirk touched a little brown earthen dish and went on: "A casserole can be used for several purposes, among others the cooking of the cheaper cuts of meat over a slow fire. The result is a most appetizing dish.

"Every woman should have a sharp vegetable, meat and bread knife—sharp, mind you. No man would attempt to work with the dull tools that women use. She should have a tin flour bin, and a steam cooker, if possible. At any rate a woman should have double boilers, and use them all she can, for steam cooked food is very economical and healthful.

"Then get a steel frying pan. It is light—a woman ought always to have light dishes, and steel does not soak the grease as iron does. Then if the cook will buy a little three-cent brush for washing the vegetables clean, I think she will have at least a few of the 'must haves.'"

TUBERCULOSIS KILLS WOMEN.

Large Percentage of Deaths Due to Ravages of White Plague.

Washington, Oct. 26.—A statement regarding mortality among women during 1909, issued by the census bureau, yesterday, shows that the highest percentage of deaths from tuberculosis was among women engaged in "mechanical and manufacturing pursuits" between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-four years. Tuberculosis was responsible for 40.6 per cent of the deaths in that class.

The next highest percentage was shown among dressmakers for the same age period, tuberculosis having claimed 40.6 of all who died. Among teachers 38.7 per cent of the deaths were caused by tuberculosis; among laundresses 33 per cent, and among servants 33.9 per cent. Of the deaths of women reported, tuberculosis was responsible as follows: From twenty to twenty-four years, 39.8 per cent; from ten to fourteen years, 28.6 per cent; from thirty-five to forty years, 21.3 per cent, and a rapidly decreasing percentage for the higher age periods.

Of the total number of women who died between the ages of thirty-five and forty-four years 10.1 per cent were attributed to cancer, and for the same age period 10.5 per cent were attributed to heart disease.

ROOSEVELT WITH OLD LEADER.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Colonel Roosevelt passed last night as the guest of Francis Hendricks. His schedule for today called for his departure at 11 o'clock for Oswego. He will be in Oswego from 12:15 to 1:40, at Richland from 2:40 to 3:15, at Watertown from 4 o'clock to 4:55, reaching Ogdensburg for his evening speech at 7:35 o'clock.

FEAR DRIVES TO TRIBUTE.

Woman Causes Arrest of Roomer Who Advised "Black Hand" Payments.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Fear that her daughter would be kidnaped caused Mrs. Eva L. Buffing to pay tribute demanded in a series of "Black Hand" letters which, it developed in the United States court yesterday, were written by a member of her own household. This was shown when H. H. Downer was arraigned before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote on charge of writing threatening letters. Downer had been a trusted roomer at Mrs. Buffing's house. Mrs. Buffing, who had just inherited $1,000 from her father, received a letter signed "Black Hand" and demanding $150. Downer advised Mrs. Buffing to regard all stipulations and pay the money. Five days later she received another demand which Downer advised her to pay. This was repeated until she had paid $275, when she notified the postal authorities and Downer was arrested. He was held to the grand jury in $5,000 bonds.

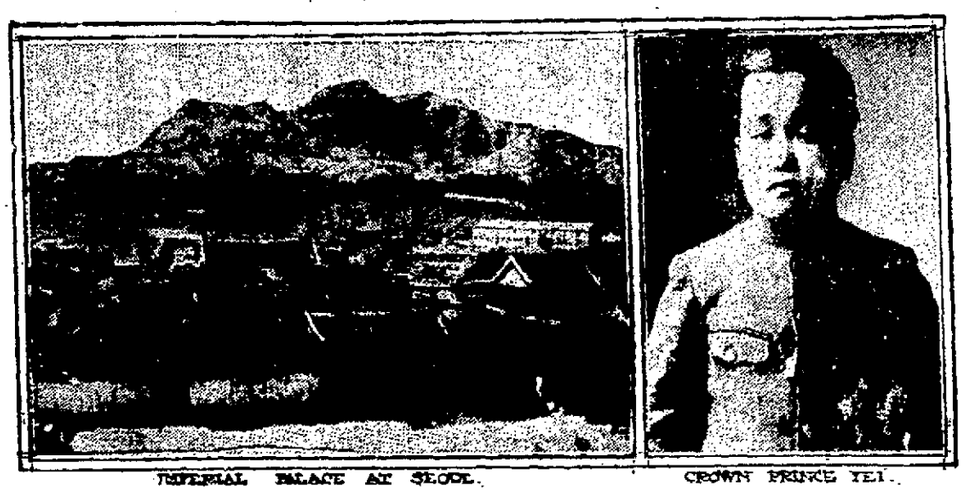
PRINCE WHO HAS LOST A THRONE.



IMPERIAL PALACE AT SEOUL. CROWN PRINCE YEI.

Prince Yei was crown prince of Korea, but now the throne has gone from under his feet. When in 1904 an agreement was signed between Japan and Korea, by which Japan undertook the policing of Korea, it was felt to be the beginning of the end. A Russo-Japanese agreement of 1905 and an Anglo-Japanese treaty of the same year made this certain. Now the Japanese government has issued a substantial volume in every European language entitled, "Recent Progress in Korea." On Sunday, Aug. 28, the annexation of Korea was formally proclaimed at Tokio. The emperor of Korea issued on the same day at Seoul an edict of resignation, and thus the throne slipped away from his son Yei

INDIANA'S FREE AGENCY.

Year's Report is Full of Surprises—State Institution Has Saved $13,270.50 in Fees to the Unemployed and the Poverty Stricken.

Indianapolis, Oct. 25.—During the year which ended September 30, 2,387 persons heard the call of the free employment agency of the Indiana bureau of statistics; obtained jobs; pulled off thir coats and went to work. Twenty-six hundred and seventy-one other persons applied for jobs, but there either were no satisfactory places waiting or the applicants could not fill the vacancies. Scores, however, continued to wait for something to turn up. They were out of work, there were jobs waiting, but the jobs did not appeal to the jobless. During the year the employment agency had 470 jobs waiting to be taken, but they waited in vain.

The chief of the bureau of statistics; J. J. Peetz, who is largely responsible for the passage of the act of 1909 which created the free employment agency, is gratified at the close of the year, not only because so many persons obtained employment through the agency, but because there was a saving to the 5,058 persons who registered for employment of approximately $13,270.50. It would have cost the 2,387 persons who obtained employment through the agency $11,935 registration fees if they had registered in a private agency. Those who registered and did not receive work would have paid the private agencies approximately $1,335.50.

The expense of maintaining the free employment agency has been paid out of a fund derived from fees collected of private agencies for licenses and the office expense fund of the bureau. Mr. Peetz believes, with a moderate appropriation, sufficient advertising could be done to place all those needing help in touch with those out of employment.

Forecasts Net Saving.

He believes further that a net saving would result in view of the fact that the call for charity upon township trustees and charitable institutions would be materially lessened.

The extension of the influence and usefulness of the department beyond the borders of Indianapolis and Marion county is the next step to be taken, according to Mr. Peetz. The records of the bureau have been placed in more than two score of Indiana counties.

The present policy of the bureau contemplates the existence of the closest relations between the employers of labor, of whatever kind, throughout the state and the state agency. An unbroken chain connecting the man out of work with the man who has work to be done and must employ others to do it is the ultimate goal of the agency administration as now constituted.

Mr. Peetz believes the state agency can become one of the most effective and useful clearing houses for the laboring man's product—his labor—possible anywhere, because of the favorable location of the state capital and the transportation facilities available to all parts of the state.

In discussing the year's work of the bureau yesterday, after the annual report had been compiled, Mr. Peetz said:

"Although confidently expected from the beginning that the good resulting from this institution would be far-reaching and potent, it has far exceeded all anticipations. It was hoped that as many as seventy-five or 100 applicants for employment might be registered each month, and at least half that number located. In October, 1909, more than 500 were registered, and employment was found for more than 200.

"Since its establishment the bureau has found employment for an average of 189 persons a month, and the only charge made to the applicant for work has been sufficient postage for necessary correspondence, as is allowed by the law, which usually amounts to from two to five cents. However, 416, or about one-half of those for whom we obtained employment during the winter months, did not have the money to pay even the small amount of postage.

"These persons probably would have been compelled either to starve, beg on the streets, become wards of charitable institutions or possibly steal to provide bread for starving ones at home. The fact that during the winter months one-half of the applicants for whom employment was obtained by the bureau were entirely destitute demonstrates the usefulness of and the necessity for this bureau.

"No discrimination was made against those who were unable to pay the small fee of two cents for postage to the bureau, but, instead, every possible effort was made to get work for them as soon as possible.

"True charity does not consist in giving a dollar to the able-bodied person who needs a dollar, but, instead, it gives him an opportunity to earn the dollar.

"The business men, manufacturers and farmers over the state are gradually becoming acquainted with our bureau, and the number of workers asked for by individuals and by institutions varies from one to hundreds. All who have had dealings with the bureau speak words of praise for its purpose and the work it is doing.

"In cases where the number of men asked for is unusually large, or where there are other indications of any possible labor troubles, we require the applicant for help to make a statement to the persons we refer to him, as to whether or not there is any strike or any labor trouble of any kind at the institution seeking help. In all cases we give the applicants for work an opportunity to have a full knowledge of the actual conditions, and the question of accepting or rejecting any position is for them to decide. So far there have been no calls in cases where there were labor troubles of any kind.

Believes in Advertising.

"The Indiana free employment bureau is yet but a nucleus of what it may become. Because of a lack of funds we have been unable to spend one cent in publicly advertising the bureau, the positions it has to offer and the workmen it has to supply.

"Some excellent clerical positions have been offered; a number of first-class engineers and firemen have been located by the bureau; there is always a list of positions open for machinists and skilled mechanics, with not enough people qualified to fill them. Hospitals and institutions of various kinds have been benefited by the bureau. There is a marked tendency of those who have once been on the farm to want to return to the farm. This condition is attributed to the increased cost of living in the cities and towns and to the advanced prices of farm products."

Thus has been carried out that new commandment, descriptive of the work of the free employment agency: "Thou shalt not wait for something to turn up, but come to us and get a job of thy choice, then pull off thy coat and go to work, then shalt thou prosper and make the word 'failure' spell 'success,' giving to us and all other men a square deal. This is the last and greatest commandment, upon which hangs all the joy and all the profits in the life that now is."

THE FATNESS OF HEALTH

Samose Fills Out the Curves and Makes Thin People Fat.

If you are thin, your health is not what it should be. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that should be attended to at once. You cannot be healthy and strong if you are thin.

Perfect health and good, solid, beautiful flesh can only come through the use of Samose, the remarkable flesh-forming food.

This makes the thin and scrawny plump and robust; it mixes with the food so that all of the elements that make solid bone, firm muscle and good flesh are thoroughly assimilated and retained in the system.

Samose is not a drug or a stimulant; it is a scientific, flesh-forming food that restores thin people to a normal condition of good, healthy flesh.

These statements are confirmed by Meyers Bros. Co., who offer to refund the money to anyone buying and using Samose who does not gain in weight as promised. The risk is all theirs. The thin and scrawny can buy Samose at Druggists Meyer Bros. Co.'s stores with the knowledge that if it is not successful it will cost absolutely nothing.

HUMAN BODY A DYNAMO.

I have long been convinced that the well trained human body is a dynamo or magneto, which manufactures its energy according to the demand, and does not, like a storage battery, contain a fixed quantity of stored energy or power. A little reflection upon the great adaptability of the body to many varying conditions of existence tends strongly to confirm this view. It is well known that no other animal can exist under such a variety of climates and conditions, and upon such a diversity of foods, as man. But it is not so well known, for example, that no other animal possesses the endurance, and capacity for labor which man possesses. Yet it is inconceivable that any other animal than man could have performed Mr. Weston's task in the time he accomplished it. Whenever a horse's endurance has been tried against man's, the victory has seemed to lodge with the biped.

The average man's endurance of fatigue, like his endurance of heat and cold, fasting and feasting, great exertion and absolute rest, can be almost indefinitely increased. The only satisfying explanation of this phenomenon is the preponderating influence of his spiritual nature. Man can train his body to do his bidding to a degree hitherto considered impossible, and evidently far beyond the capacity of a brute. The body, when properly trained, manufactures the energy it needs as it expends it. Our energy is not stored up within us to be drawn off as a man draws water out of a cask, nor is our so-called vitality a fixed quantity. Great bodily strength, huge muscles and a deep chest do not necessarily indicate endurance, or a capacity for long-sustained exertion. These attributes merely indicate the muscular and osseous foundations upon which an athlete's prowess may be developed. Man trains himself to great physical or mental efficiency by practice and care. He succeeds in endurance tests largely by will power.

I have frequently noticed that my own endurance on any particular occasion is largely determined by my mental attitude. If I say to myself as I start out to take a bicycle ride that I will ride a distance of twelve or fourteen miles, I accomplish the feat and feel just about as tired as I do when I have selected and ridden a journey twice or thrice as long. The crucial thing is making up the mind to go a certain distance. In other words my bodily energy is developed and expended in obedience to my will, and my body having done what it was told to do, be the journey long or short, protests against further exertion after the task is fulfilled. Mr. Roosevelt's wonderful energy was originally, at least, unquestionably far more a mental than a physical attribute, although, of course, the iron will begets the iron muscles.

INSPECTING THE PENNSY LINES

President M'Crea and Board of Directors Out This Week.

IN THE CITY JUST TEN MINUTES

Division Officials of the Pennsylvania and G. R. & I. Along.

James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania, with his staff officers and the higher officials of the Pennsylvania company lines, including General Manager G. L. Peck, General Supt. A. M. Schoyer and Chief Engineer R. Trimble; the board of directors of the Pennsylvania and the officials of the G. R. & I. were in the city awhile today. President McCrea is making a trip over the Pennsylvania and affiliated lines and came down from Grand Rapids on a special train, arriving here at 12 o'clock noon and leaving for Chicago over the Pennsylvania at 12:10 p. m. Most of the officials of the G. R. & I. accompanied him to Fort Wayne. In this party were Vice President and General Manager J. H. P. Hughart, Vice President W. R. Shelby, General Counsel Judge Campbell, General Freight Agent E. C. Leavenworth, General Auditor E. R. Metheany, Chief Engineer E. H. Barnes, Supt. of Motive Power J. E. Keegan, Supt. J. W. Hunter, of the Northern division; Supt. B. H. Hudson, of the Southern division; Trainmaster R. E. Casey, Division Engineer C. L. Barnaby and Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lopshire. With the exception of General Manager Hughart, who left for Pittsburg at 2:50 o'clock, the Grand Rapids people returned to that city on the train which left at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Several of the local Pennsylvania officials, including Supt. J. B. McKim, Motive Power Supt. T. W. Demarest, Division Engineer Fred M. Graham, Assistant Trainmaster C. E. Hamilton and Road Foreman of Engines C. R. Colmey, joined President McCrea and party here and accompanied them to Chicago. The Pennsylvania train crew was composed of Conductor John Walsh, Engineer R. H. Craig and Fireman R. C. Morton, and on the G. R. & I. Conductor Thomas Malone, Engineer F. A. Hiser and Fireman C. J. McDaniels brought the train down from the north. General Superintendent A. M. Schoyer and Chief Engineer Trimble joined the party here, coming in from Pittsburg in a private car early this morning. They spent the forenoon in looking over track elevation work and a "spin" about the city in an automobile with Pennsylvania Attorney Fred Zollars and Division Engineer F. M. Graham. Mr. McCrea did not leave his car while in the city, but surveyed the situation at the depot, where track elevation is in progress, from the windows and vestibule.

FRANK JOHANN INJURED.

Sheet Iron Fell and Struck Him on Head.

Frank Johann, employed in the flue department of the Pennsylvania shops, sustained a three or four-inch cut on the top of his head yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a piece of sheet iron which fell from the second floor of the shop, down the elevator shaft. A heavy cap saved him from fatal injuries. He was taken to the company's surgeon, who had to make four stitches in closing the wound. Witnesses to the accident say that escape from more serious injury was miraculous. Mr. Johann will be off duty a few days as a result of the accident.

RUN DOWN BY MOTORCYCLE.

John Moring Severely Hurt While Going to Work.

John Moring, a blacksmith at the Pennsylvania shops, was severely injured yesterday at noon while riding his wheel to the shops after being at home for dinner. At Lafayette and Hanna street two men on a motorcycle, who were riding fast, struck his wheel and the three piled up in a bunch on the pavement. Mr. Moring struck the curbing and cut a hole in his scalp and skinned and bruised his nose. He was dazed and was carried into a neighboring house, where his wounds were dressed and he soon revived. Mr. Moring does not know the names of the men who run him down, as they rode away as soon as they could get their machine in order.

TO GET NEW ENGINES.

Four Pacific Type Passenger Flyers for N. P.

Word from Cleveland is to the effect that some time during the coming winter months the Western division of the Nickel Plate will receive four new passenger locomotives, known as the "Pacific" type. The report also is that the engines released by the new ones will be sent to the Eastern division to take the place of lighter engines, which will be sent to some of the New York Central lines where larger engines are not needed. The Pacific type engines will weigh 105 tons, have three pair of drive wheels and a trailer each and will combine power and speed.

WINTER TOURIST RATES.

They Go Into Effect Two Weeks Earlier Than Heretofore.

Local passenger men announce winter tourist rates from Fort Wayne to all points in the south, including Florida, Texas, Louisiana, South and North Carolina and Alabama, effective yesterday. The rate is one and one-fourth fare for the round trip. Last year winter tourist rates did not become effective until about the 10th of November. There is already considerable inquiry about the rates, which is taken to mean that the business is going to be good the coming fall and winter months.

LAYING OFF MEN.

Pennsy is Reducing Its Force of Trackmen.

In conformity with the rule, the Pennsylvania has commenced the late fall reduction of the working force in the maintenance of way department. One hundred men, all foreigners, have been dropped from the pay rolls of the Western division and it is quite likely that more suspensions will take place within the next two or three weeks. The usual force is being handled in the shops, however, and in the train service additions are being made on account of increasing business.

INCREASING ENGINE CREWS.

The increasing freight traffic on the Pennsylvania road makes additional crews a necessity and the local officials are preparing for it. Ten or twelve passenger firemen are soon to be promoted to freight engineers, and with that end in view the men are now firing on freight trains to become familiar with the runs. Among them are F. C. Bolyard, L. C. Dellaven, E. Pelkey, J. F. Wilson, C. E. Glass, Fred A. Lindner, G. F. Minier, H. E. Koenig, and E. M. Newcomb. They will become full-fledged engineers about the first of November. It is understood that similar promotions are to be made among the freight brakemen.

LEAGUE HAS AN ELECTION.

The Manufacturers' Bowling league held a meeting last night and included in the business transacted was the election of the following officers: Cal Thiem, president; Benjamin Denner, vice president; J. O. Goff, secretary and Paul Grimme, treasurer. The schedule has practically been completed and will include games for the four teams which entered the organization, they being the Bowsers, Wayne Knits, Electric Works and Bass'. The Pennsylvania and Wabash shops are expected to enter teams and arrangements will be made in the schedule providing they enter. The Bowser and Bass teams are scheduled for games tonight.

VETERAN ENGINEER DEAD.

Albert E. Thatcher, a veteran passenger engineer on the Wabash railway, is dead at his home at Montpelier, O. He formerly ran out of Danville, but transferred to Ashley, Ind., when the Chicago-Detroit line was completed in 1893. Two years ago Mr. Thatcher was dismissed from the service for forgetting an order regarding a broken rail. He had instructions to slow down at a certain point on account of a broken rail, but went over the spot at full speed, derailing the train but injuring no one. He was 63 years of age.

JOHN HALEY IS OUT.

John P. Haley, the Pennsylvania conductor who was injured so badly August 11 that for a long while it was thought he could not recover, is out on the streets, though he has to use crutches. His recovery is assured, however, and he is looking anxiously forward to the time when he can resume work. Mr. Haley was hurt in a rear end collision at Plymouth. Engineer Charles More was also injured, but he has recovered.

M. O. GRUBB SICK.

Nickel Plate Engineer M. O. Grubb is very ill with typhoid fever at his home in Bellevue, O. In fact, it was believed yesterday that he was very near death's door and his brothers, Engineers D. TRUSTEE PROMISES TO PAY AMOUNT REPORTED Township Official of Marshall County Short in Examiner's Finding.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—C. T. Middleton, trustee of Walnut township, Marshall county, will pay into the township treasury $342.56 without protest when the report of the finding of field examiners employed by the state board of accounts to examine the records of his office for 1909 is certified to the township advisory board. Mr. Middleton informed the examiners that he was ready to make the payment, and his declaration will be included in the report. The amount represents a shortage in the depository accounts of the township on January 1 of this year, after the close of business of the 1909 fiscal year, the period covered by the examination. It is accounted for my erroneous transfers, by failure to deposit collections, by checks drawn against Middelton's private account and charged to the township deposit and by checks drawn for claims which the advisory board later refused to allow. In addition, Middleton is charged with $45 overpayment of salaries to members of his advisory board.

O. L. Grossman, trustee of the same township for the four years ending December 31, 1908, is charged with $75.73, due to errors made in settling with his successor and to overpayments of salary to the advisory board.

An examination of the affairs of the school town of Bremen disclosed that George F. Wahl, former treasurer, was chargeable with $19.50, and that other members of the board of school trustees had been drawing money from the school treasury on contracts for labor and for supplies furnished. W. H. Huff drew the largest amount, it was reported, a total of $702.07 being charged against him. J. F. Vine drew $15.97 and C. E. Koontz $43.52. These amounts constitute constructive charges against the former trustees.

Former Treasurer Accused.

Field examiners reported errors in the administration of the affairs of the treasurer's office in the civil town of Flora, Carroll county, and charge a total of $340.81 against J. V. Bright and J. H. Coplin, former treasurers. Bright is charged with $73.78 due to errors and failure to account for a number of collections.

Coplin is charged with $267.03. Included in this amount is an alleged overpayment of $110.06 made to a contractor, who placed a sewer in Center street. Failure to account for the proceeds of a bond concerning which the examiners could obtain no information, and errors in accounting of a minor nature made up the balance.

J. O. Ferrier and S. E. Medbourne, former trustees of the civil town of Culver, sold supplies to the corporation, when they were trustees, amounting to $144.65. This amount constitutes a constructive charge against the two men, Ferrier is charged with $57.37 and Teel" come with $87.

HAYTIEN WARSHIP IS LOST WITH 70 SOULS

Explosion Wrecks Gunboat Liberte and Only 20 Men Are Saved.

Port Au Prince, Hayti, Oct. 26.—The Haytien gun boat Liberte has been lost at sea off the port E. Paix, following an explosion on board. It is estimated that seventy persons were either killed or drowned. Twenty others were rescued.

News of the accident was received here today. The Liberte sailed on Monday last, having on board ninety persons. So far as known only twenty escaped. Among those lost were ten Haytien generals, who were going to take command of several divisions of troops in the department of the north.

Details are lacking, the only definite information being as to the loss of life and the fact that an explosion occurred.

COAL ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

A Trial Cargo Shipped From China to San Francisco.

(Consular Report.)

On August 10,1910, a Chinese mining company made a shipment of sample coal, coke and cement to San Francisco, the total value of the shipment amounting to $34,863, the cargo being made up as follows: Anthracite, 2,000 tons; lump, 920 tons; slack, 1,980 tons; special coke, five tons, cement, ten casks.

The foregoing company sent several shipments of sample coal, coke, fire brick, tiles, cement, etc., to San Francisco and Manila last year, but this is the largest single shipment which it has made. This fact is more significant, when it is considered in the light of the recent departure for the United States of a representative of the company, under instructions to inspect the larger towns and cities of the Pacific coast with a view to discovering a market therein for the products of his company. It means that a definite and energetic attempt is being made by the company to find an opening out side of China for its excess output. This company is one of the strongest and best managed industrial concerns in China, if not the strongest. It has behind it substantial Belgian and British capitalists and its direction is by an able foreign engineer.

The deepest coal mine is near Lambert, Belgium, 3,500 feet deep; the biggest dock is at Cardiff, Wales, and the strongest electric light is at the Sydney lighthouse, Australia; while the largest lighthouse is at Cape Henry, Virginia, being 165 feet high.

Proof of an Astonishing Occurrence

IT IS HERE AND MANY FROM A DISTANCE ARE WRITING.

When skeptical people are told of some astonishing event they will say: "I don't believe it." Therefore, it is always desirable to have good proof of an occurrence that is out of the ordinary. Proofs of the "don't believe it" class are right here, as scores of people of this county have been cured of chronic stomach, liver and kidney troubles, rheumatism and nervous weakness within the past few months, after taking a few bottles of the wonderful Root Juice medicine.

Person after person has called on the local agent to tell of their cure, and many are writing from different parts of the country and telling of wonderful cures Root Juice is making. Mrs C. H. Davis wrote from Zanesville, O. and said: "I want to say a few words of praise for Root Juice. For over three years I was a great sufferer from stomach troubles. I doctored with some of our best doctors, without relief. They said I had cancer of the stomach; but whatever it was, four bottles of Root Juice have completely cured me."

A remedy that will cure a severe stomach trouble, that was pronounced cancer by some of the best doctors, is certainly a wonder and well deserves the praise of every one. The Root Juice Medicine Company, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has hundreds of testimonials from people whose word cannot be doubted, but local testimonials are so numerous that anyone will be convinced by calling at Bradley Bros.' drug store, 627 Calhoun street.

COSTLIER DINING; BIGGER TIPS.

"The cost of living in New York has increased 100 per cent within eight years," said R. W. White, of the banking firm of White & Co., at 25 Pine street, yesterday. "A few years ago my brother Archie and I lived at the Loraine on Fifth avenue and dined almost every evening at Sherry's. We could get an excellent dinner then for two or three dollars, and the waiter never expected more than a twenty-five-cent tip. Could you dine in any first class place in New York as reasonably as that nowadays? I should say not. Just offer a waiter twenty-five cents for a trip when you pay your dinner check and see what a stony glare you'll get."—New York Morning Telegraph.

Hoarseness in a child subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given at once or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Contains no poison. Sold by all dealers.

TOO DEEP FOR HIM.

Teacher—Knowing the curvature of the earth and the distance across Lake Michigan, how would you calculate how far below the horizon a city on the eastern shore, directly opposite, would appear to an observer on this side?

Solemn-Faced Pupil—I ain't onto Lake Michigan's curves, ma'am, but I think it'd be out of sight.—Chicago Tribune.

The pleasant purgative effect experienced by all who use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and the healthy condition of the body and mind which they create, makes one feel joyful. Sold by all dealers.

FEARED ARREST FOR FORGERY; ENDED HIS LIFE

Oliver M. Albaugh Swallows Poison in a Rooming House.

Fearing arrest on a charge of forgery, Oliver M. Albaugh, 45 years of age, a carpenter living at 511 East Lewis street and employed by Contractor Paul Kinder, swallowed strychnine at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening in a rooming house above the Casino theater on Calhoun street. His lifeless body was found fifteen minutes later by Mrs. H. Reicherd, who conducts the rooming house, and who notified the police. Albaugh had gone to the room of John Strickler, a friend, to swallow the poison.

Evidence tends to show that although Albaugh had been drawing good wages as a carpenter on the James H. Smart school building, he had been in financial straits. On October 11, when asked for money in payment of his room rent, Albaugh took a check from his trunk, filled it out and a little later returned with some cash. The following day Henry Ladig, proprietor of a saloon on Calhoun street, reported to the police that he had cashed a bad check for $40.70 and asked the department's aid in tracing the affair.

Detective Sergeant Pappert soon developed Albaugh's connection with the check case, but Albaugh declared that he had endorsed the check for William Chester, a boyhood friend whom he had not seen for years and who had needed money to get to St. Louis. Ladig was reimbursed by Albaugh through a note endorsed by Albaugh's sister. Sergeant Pappert, however, did not drop the case, and further investigation convinced him that William Chester was a wholly fictitious individual and that Albaugh was alone in the transaction. Albaugh knew the officer had secured possession of the check and worry over the possibility of arrest is believed to have led him to suicide.

Prior to the death of his wife Albaugh lived at 1115 Monroe street and had borne a good reputation. He leaves a married daughter residing at Columbia City.

SHERMAN SNUBS MR. TAFT.

Vice President Visits Capitol, but Does Not Call on the Chief.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The tongues of political gossips are wagging with comment on what is regarded as the remarkable behavior of Vice President Sherman in Washington yesterday.

"Sunny Jim" spent several hours in the capitol, but went away without calling on President Taft.

The politicians are wondering whether Mr. Taft's letter repudiating the vice president's actions in the New York convention imbroglio could have had anything to do with the latter's disregard of the official proprieties.

IS BOSS OF THE SULTAN OF SULU

Kiram Has an American Who is Interpreter and Instructor—Werble Former Soldier.

(Boston Herald.)

When Jamalul Kiram II, sultan of Sulu, and his suite of five Moros, including the heir apparent, the Mohammedan chief priest of Sulu, and a young ex-outlaw, were in New York, they in themselves were so interesting that few paid much attention to Charles J. Werble, ex-corporal Seventeenth United States infantry, but in the opinion of many persons who came in contact with Kiram and his suite, Werble was the most interesting person in the Jolo tourist's party.

Werble is the boss of the sultan's group, and that is not putting it too strong for Kiram II, Hadji Mohamed, the chief priest; Hadji Tahib, the son of Hadji Butu, wise man of Jolo; Salip Maydano, the latter a boy in years with a man's record for outlawry, have put themselves in the hands of this ex-enlisted man of the regulars. He is the final arbiter of every dispute, he signed all the checks, he sees to it that amusement promoters do not take advantage of his charges, and he is on the spot to answer all questions for the sultan and his suite, no matter whether the questions have to do with the matrimonial affairs of the sultan or the value of Jolo pearl fisheries.

Despite the fact that he had been out of the army for nearly seven years, Werble is still an American regular when it comes to directness of speech and action. He does not parley words, and when he wants something done for or by his charges he does not say, "Will you please," but snaps out an unmistakable "do it" and Werble is a school teacher.

A Good Soldier.

Werble piloted Kiram and his suite through the baggage examination ordeal on the pier with flying colors, and then he saw to it that they got to their hotel, and later he took them to the Times tower. He told them about everything, and his explanation in every case was made in such a way as to teach a lesson that the sultan and those with him will take back to the warrior tribes, a lesson that he hopes will make law and order, and not murder and outlawry, prevail from one end of the Sulu dominions to the other.

Werble is a medium sizer, clean-shaven fellow, with a firm grip and a steady eye. His every word and action shows the training he received as a regular in the Seventeenth infantry. He is not a college man, but there are few college men who are better educated than he.

Imagine, if you will, a man not yet thirty years old, who ten years ago was hiking over the Moro fastnesses with an army rifle in his hands, ferreting out the wily and deceptive savage warriors—the fighting Moro wth the barong.

There was no better soldier in the enlisted ranks of the famous old Seventeenth infantry than Werble. He knew his soldier business from A to Z, and was afraid of no man, even though that man were a Moro with a barong in his belt.

Born with an aptitude to master strange tongues, Werble soon after going into the Moro country began to pick up the strange sounds like so many garbled unmeaning noises. Within a year he had so far mastered the language that he could ask practically any uestion that his superiors wanted a rebellious Moro to answer. Another year, and then another passed, and Werble could talk Moro as well as the sultan himself. He had then become the most valuable man to the Americans in the Moro country.

Refused to Leave Sulu.

Werble's enlistment expired about six years ago, and he made known his intention of not re-enlisting, and his superiors, fearful of losing him, asked the reason.

"Oh, I won't leave Sulu," he answered. "I'm going to stay right here and teach. It will be a hard task, but here and there I may find some bright fellow who wants to learn, and if he does I have made up my mind to help him."

One of Werble's pupils is with the sultan. He is young Hadji Gulamu, son of old Nadji Butu, prime minister of Sulu.

"If I had never succeeded in but this one case," said Werble, pointing to Gulamu, "I would be satisfied."

Gulamu can now say anything he wishes in English and is one of the best interpreters in Jolo. He is a bright-eyed, fine-looking young Moro, and army officers who have been on duty in Sulu say that if he lives he is sure to prove a powerful assistance to the United States in creating a sentiment of loyalty to this government.

Another of Werble's pupils who is with the sultan is Salip Maydano. The story of this tall lad is almost unbelievable.

A Remarkable Case.

"Three months ago," Werble said, "Salip was as wild an outlaw as you could find anywhere in the Sulu archepelago. He tells me that he has robbed and pillaged villages, and that until we got hold of him he never knew that those things were wrong. Look at him now in his American clothes and tell me if you have ever seen a transformation so great."

"How did you get him?" Werble was asked.

"We just ran across him in the wilderness, so to speak," he answered, "and took him in hand. I never knew anyone to learn so fast. It was marvelous. When the time for us to start for America approached we decided to bring him with us and let the Americans see what American civilization can do for the wildest of savages. Now he tells me that he is going back to his own wild people and tell them of the great country that he has seen and that he intends to devote the rest of his life teaching them that murder, theft and arson are wrong and that they must be good citizens, and I am certain that he is sincere and means to do that very thing."

"Is it very hard to get these people to go to school?"

"Yes; it is a hard job, but every now and then you pick up one that wants to learn and he progresses so rapidly that you forget for the time being the hundreds who are not so anxious to improve themselves."

"Are you going back to Jolo with them?"

"Certainly; I intend to end my days there," said Werble.

Werble, of course, has other business besides that of school teaching in Jolo, and some day he hopes to have a big farm and maybe a pearl fishing boat or two. The army officers hope he may get both.

If It Don't You Can Get Your Money Back, Says Meyer Bros. Co.

Now when Meyer Bros. Co., the well known druggists, make such an offer as that, where, oh, where, is the man or woman full of Uric Acid poison, which is the same as rheumatism, who is going to turn it down?

Meyer Bros. Co. have sold a whole lot of Rheuma these last few months, and if it didn't do as advertised they couldn't afford to make the offer.

Here is more proof: Porter Smith, Dobbin, W. Va., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism for about 26 years, and the disease had become chronic. I began taking Rheuma with little faith in its virtues, but was better from the first day I began its use, and at this time have no more pains."—Feb. 20, 1910.

HEAT WILL DESPEL HUMIDITY.

Paradoxical as It May Seem, a Fire Will Make the Room Seem Cooler.

(London Lancet.)

The atmospheric conditions of the last week have caused a general limpness and flaccidity in the community, a sense of oppression and languor due to the high saturation with moisture of the surrounding air. The rise of temperature in the shade has not been high, a degree or two above 70 degrees Fahrenheit at the utmost, but there was no getting away from the feeling of tiredness, and no advantage to be got from seeking shady places. The idea of a fire in the stoves of the sitting rooms seemed absurd, and few people thought of meeting the weather thus. And yet ,paradoxical as it may seem, artificial heat, under the conditions mentioned, is one of the best means of getting rid of the unpleasant feelings set up by these sates of damp due to high saturation. Here we may take a lesson from the Swiss, who employ dry heat with advantage when the air is damp though warm.

The reason for fire—preferably of wood—are obvious; the air is dried, a current is made through the room and up the chimney, and the saturated atmosphere is made endurable through radiation. Those who have radiators in their houses will do well to have them set going to a moderate extent if the extreme mugginess returns, for it is really surprising what a feeling of coolness is thus produced. People smile at the Englishman's staple conversational topic, "the weather," but in truth its vagaries and changes have a great influence on the energies and the movements of the population of these isles.

The misery of those who retire to the dark seclusions of the cellar during periods of electric disturbances commands the sympathy of those more fortunately constituted persons who can brave the elements without anxiety. Many of the mental states of sensitive persons are directly due to atmospheric conditions which cannot be explained, although we may recognize them as actual existences. A certain amount of scientific investigation has been bestowed upon the alterations of pressure and the atmospheric changes generally which affect those who ascend to great heights or who go down to great depths, but work is still required in this direction on behalf of those who are contented to live on the plains and yet have to endure painful feelings, rising at times to positive torture, from causes which are perhaps capable of modification by some simple physical remedies.

Knowing the susceptibility of some persons to certain atmospheric conditions, we merely wait for the weather to change instead of trying to devise means by which accommodation to the existing elements may be obtained, either by modifying the external conditions or by making the body harmonize better with its surroundings during the hot weather of the first week in June of last year the way to combat languor was to light a fire; we are not at all sure that the public and the medical profession might not find between them other simple measures for dealing with physical ills, whose atmospheric origin is as yet not understood.

Chamberlan's Cough Remedy has become famous for its cures of coughs, colds, croup and influenza. Try it when in need. It contains no harmful substance and always gives prompt relief. Sold by all dealers.

Throat and Bronchial Troubles

The old-time methods of treating throat and bronchial troubles by sprays and swabs have given way to better methods by the up-to-date physician. Respiratory diseases yield more readily to oxyoline and electrical treatments than to medicines or a change of climate. In the treatment of chronic coughs, catarrh and sore throats, better results can be secured by this method than in any other way.

Oxyoline is a wonderful new electrical product for inhalation, superior to ozone. One treatment will accomplish more than a week's outdoor life in the most ideal climate. Those who have been unable to secure satisfactory results from ordinary treatment are invited to investigate the merits of this treatment.

STATURE OF GIRLS INCREASING.

President of Wellesley Says Conditions Are Changed.

(Baltimore News.)

It is the general opinion at Wellesley college that the girls of today are taller than their mothers and that anyone who comes into contact with large numbers of girls will answer that this is true. Miss Hazard, for eleven years president of Wellesley, voiced the general opinion of herself and the faculty recently in an official report. She said "Any close observer of young people, especially young women, will notice the vast difference between the mental and physical standard of today and twenty years ago.

"With our better understanding and our healthier conditions the stature of our young women has increased.

"Statistics recently taken at Wellesley from a class of 292 girls show that 182 are taller than their mothers were, seventy-four are shorter and twenty-six are the same height. The average height increase was two inches. Professor Sculler, on the height increase said our modern emphasis on athletics and outdoor life is the real underlying reason that girls are taller than their mothers.

"The reaching out after high ideals and the broadening of woman's sympathy, the enlarging of her whole intellectual life is in addition also partly responsible for this tendency."

Another professor said: "Women are more intelligent in regard to their foods. It is not merely the food eaten by the growing girls, but the element which enters into the infant's early food."

OF AVIATION DEVELOPMENT

(New York Evening Post.)

The public statements made by Mr John B. Moisant in England, as well as since his arrival in this country, have been of extraordinary interest. No one else talks with the assurance and apparent mastery of the subject displayed by this young American, whose flight from Paris to London, carrying a mechanic with him, recently startled the world. Not that Mr. Moisant is in the least boastful or visionary. He is simply in dead earnest and seems sure of his ground. He is positive, for instance, that an aeroplane will cross the Atlantic in ten years; not, however, because he deceives himself in any way as to the progress thus far made. To an Evening Post reporter he stated on Monday that aeroplanes may really be said to have been in service for only one year, and he complained that the American public expected too much. "They want us to run before we can walk, and before we can creep. That is the wrong spirit." Yet he is confident that each month will see a marked advance in the practical development of the art of flying.

For all their impatience, Mr. Moisant indicts Americans for failure as individuals and as a nation to lend the aid and stimulus to this new art which are so notable in France and Germany. In that respect there seems to be a close parallel to the development of the automobile, save that the Wright brothers were indubitably among the first to develop a usable biplane. But the Wrights are to all intents and purposes devoting themselves to the purely commercial side of the business while Moisant, Harmon, Hoxsey, Ely and all the rest of the many who have suddenly gone into the business of flying are in the van of American progress, but apparently far behind the developments in France. True, we are seeing a large number of "aviation meets," and many prizes are being offered for long distance flights. But Mr. Moisant feels that the latter do not help at present, and that the refusal of capital to go into the business in a serious way is likely to keep America in second place in flying matters.

Mr. Moisant points out the kind of things he has had to learn by experience—the replacing of wires by tubular metal, the use of metal instead of wooden planes, the strengthening of the frame without increasing its weight, etc. He has even ordered a 100-horse power engine to weigh only 214 pounds But all these things are difficult for one man of small means to accomplish, and his progress must be comparatively slow. Were some large concerns like the Bethlehem Steel corporation, for example, to experiment with a view to manufacturing frames and engines, the story might be a totally different one. If it is less easy for the American government to encourage inventors than for the French, owing in part to its dependence upon congress for money, we must admit that there is not much in what the army has done with the aeroplane this year to call for any enthusiasm. Here, too, it seems as if progress must come from private initiative.

Whether this is due in part to military reluctance to develop a weapon which may make armies impossible, is too early to say. On this point Mr. Moisant is as emphatic as Mr. Harmon, and in these words:

"When I talk about what can be done by the plane in war I am talking about an accomplished fact, not a dream. It is not that we must make the aeroplane practical; it is only that we must put it into practice. That is only a question of time and of capital. People talk of shooting at flying machines from the ground and warding off an attack in that way. We can travel seventy miles an hour, and more than that soon, and can go up 5,000 feet or more. Can they hit us under those conditions?"

He can himself, he says, steer his aeroplane with one hand and drop missiles with the other; and a passenger could give his whole time to that occupation. Now, if there is anything at all in this it is the duty of every government to investigate it at once at any cost. As scouts, the German and English aeroplanes do not seem to have been very successful. As attacking forces they have not been tried out anywhere. But here is a practical question of such great moment to all the world that, if no one else, it seems as if the peace organization should take counsel as to how a decision of this question can be obtained. At any rate, congress should promptly make the most liberal appropriations for experimentation with an invention which cannot fail to be of enormous benefit to humanity, even if it should not bring about peace.

As to the question of custom houses, it is far too early to say that the aeroplane will make tariffs impossible, as Mr. Moisant seems to think. It is difficult at the present time, it is true, to see how aerial smuggling could be prevented, but the ingenuity of protectionists, of which we have had so many sad examples, may be relied upon to invent devices or to make laws that will compel men coming in from over sea flights to land at certain points or be subject to drastic penalties. Just so long as some people can find a way of getting rich at the expense of others on the plea that they are protecting American industries or workingmen, there will be brave efforts to prop up an outworn and decaying economic system. Whatever the future holds in store in this respect, what we wish to call attention to today is that the appearance in the field of aviation of sensible, practical, far-sighted men like Messrs. Harmon and Moisant is the surest guarantee that the progress thus far made is but the beginning of the development of the most fascinating enterprise and sport of modern times.

Hobert Henkel, who is employed at the Wayne Shoe company's plant, had his left hand badly injured yesterday by getting it caught in a machine which he was operating. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

TWENTY LIONS ARE PLENTY.

Hunter With Three Cartridges Counts Them and Goes Home.

(Alfred Jordan in Adventure for November.)

The strong odor of a lion suddenly assailed my nostrils. I jumped from my pony and snatched the rifle from my gunbearer. A few feet ahead was a clump of bushes. Leaving the pony with the gunbearer, I advanced cautiously. Around the edge of the thin foliage I saw a large lioness beating the ground softly with her tail and crouching for a spring.

I knew that she could reach me in two jumps and that there was no time to lose. Forgetting in my haste that there was a good cartridge in my rifle, I lifted the bolt and pulled it back. A good cartridge flew out, leaving me with only two charges. Aiming carefully, I fired and hit the lioness in the shoulder. She fell over on one side, but, recovering herself, made a limping bound toward the shelter of another bush. As far as she was concerned, I was safe, but the echo of my shot had not died away before her mate, a fine lion with a long mane, suddenly came out from a piece of scrub about a hundred yards away and gazed at me. I fired my last cartridge at him and missed.

The lion did not move. We stared at each other for a moment. Out of the corner of my eye I happened to catch a glimpse of a tawny head in another bush. I glanced about now and was astonished to see that lions were looking out from numerous clumps of scrub.

Being defenseless against their powerful teeth and paws, I realized that the best thing to do was to remain as quiet as possible. So I sat down on the grass and counted the animals. Including cubs, there were just twenty of them. I never wanted a few cartridges so much in my life, but since I had none I returned to where my gunbearer was holding the pony, and, circling around the scrub, went back to camp. All night I could hear the lions lifting up their voices in deep grunts and dismal roars.

"BILL INSIDE."

Robert Edeson was moralizing and shaking his head at New York in a disapproving fashion.

"Many a poor devil who comes here," he said sadly, "don't know in what fashion he may go home. There was Bill Sprague. Poor Bill!

"Bill Sprague kept a general store at Croydon Four Corners. One day he set off for New York to buy a lot of goods. The goods were shipped immediately, and, as Bill had lingered in New York sightseeing, they reached Croydon Four Corners before him.

"The goods, in an enormous packing case, were driven to the general store by the local teamster. Mrs. Sprague came out to see what had arrived, and with a shriek tottered and nearly fell.

"'Oh, what's the matter ma'am?' cried the hired girl.

"Mrs. Sprague, her eyes blinded with tears, pointed to the packing case, whereupon was stenciled in large, black letters, 'Bill inside!'"—Young's Magazine.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—Expectation of smaller world shipments this week tended to increase friendliness for the bull side of the wheat market today. The fact that the visible supply in the United States is not piling up so fast as recently was also an encouragement to buying. Rains interrupting seeding operations in Roumania aided, too, in giving an upward tilt to the market. The opening here was unchanged to ¼c higher with December showing the extreme range at 92¾c to 93c. For some time the price held at 92⅞c. Light offerings were responsible for firmness in corn. December opened ¼c to ⅜c up at 45⅞c to 46c, and touched 46⅛c.

Absence of selling pressure allowed oats to advance. December started a shade higher at 30⅝@31c and rose to 31⅛c.

Sentiment in the provision pit was bearish, but traders appeared timid trying to force a decline. First sales were unchanged to 5c down with January at $17.17½ for pork, $10.27½ for lard and $9.05 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Oct. 26.—There were large purchases of stocks at the opening today at fractional advances over last night's closing. The most conspicuous gains exceeding ½ were in Union Pacific, United States Steel, Wabash preferred and American Smelting. Secondary prices showed fractional recessions from the opening.

The market fluctuated irregularly, prices rising a good fraction at times, despite the liberal offerings which the rise brought out. By the end of the hour the market was rising again. Reading, Wabash preferred, Colorado & Southern first preferred, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting rose 1. American Telephone and Telegraph 1¼ and Colorado & Southern 1½. Federal Mining lost 3 and the preferred 5 on one transaction.

The speculative hesitation marked by the uncertain price fluctuations was due to the doubtful money outlook. The United States Steel quarterly statement had little effect in stimulating activity. Prices in the second hour lost most of the gains established during the first hour.

The market was unable to withstand the volume of sales and prices broke sharply. More than a dozen of the principal stocks were down a point from yesterday's closing. St. Paul and International Harvester gave way 1⅞, and United States Express 9 points.

Lower prices were made after a pause in the selling. The subsequent recovery had only amounted to a small fraction when the demand came almost to a halt.

The market closed generally firm. The running out of the demand on the recovery invited renewed pressure from the bears. Prices receded again with an increase of activity. Low prices for the day were touched in a few instances. Other stocks encountered resistance and supporting orders. Atlantic Coast Line fell 2¾.

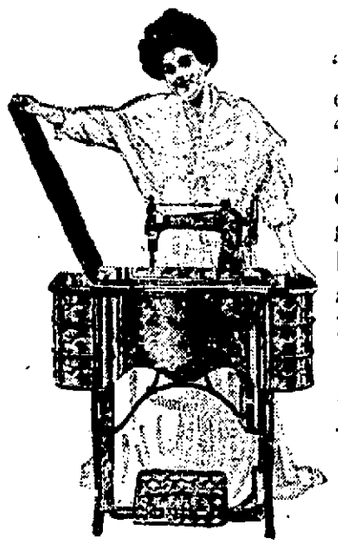
Every "Free" Sewing Machine Has the Rotoscillo Movement.



Do you know what the Rotoscillo movement is? "Rotoscillo" is a word coined by the Free Sewing Machine Company and made from the Latin words: "roto," (I revolve) and "oscillo," (I swing.) Sewing machines have either the vibrating or swing shuttle, or else the rotating shuttle. The Free Co. took the good points in both, combined them and made a double ball-bearing Rotoscillo shuttle movement. This, and A DOZEN OTHER ECXLUSIVE IMPROVEMENTS are things that every user of a sewing machine should know about. Come in at any time and let us explain all this to you and show you all about it.

We sell the celebrated "Perfection" Machines from $15.75 to $23.50

The best machines ever made for the price.
